DRINKING HABITS OF T. ROOSEVELT UP FOR AN AIRING

Twelve Jurors Are Chosen to Decide Whether Colonel Is a Drunkard as Charged by Michigan Editor.

ROOSEVELT KEPT TAB ON CHOICE OF JURORS

Indications Are That Trial Will Be Long—Roosevelt Accompanied by Pinchot, Garfield, Loeb and Others.

Marquette, Mich., May 26.—A suit involving allegations of drunkenness on the part of a former president of the United States will be heard here beginning tomorrow by a jury composed of four miners, three teamsters, two farmers, one blacksmith, one locomotive fireman and one woodsman.

The plaintiff, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, who is suing George A. Newett, an Ishpeming newspaper publisher, for $10,000 damages because of an editorial charging him with drunkenness, probably will be the first witness tomorrow.

The jury was completed at 11 o'clock tonight.

As soon as the jury had been sworn Judge Richard C. Flannigan ordered the jurors kept in confinement until a verdict is rendered. "Gentlemen of the jury," said the court, "until you have rendered a verdict in this case you will be protected from any possible influence other than the testimony which you will hear in the courtroom.

"You may write to your families, but letters will be delivered to you unless you agree that they may be first opened by the court."

Court adjourned at 11 o'clock until tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

Colonel Roosevelt was present throughout the night session. The defendant, Newett, was not present. Many would-be spectators were turned away tonight.

Before the case was called the court room was half filled with spectators, including many women, mostly seated in the balconies.

Colonel Roosevelt, who arrived here early in the day, reached the courthouse shortly before the case was called.

Arrival of Roosevelt.

Accompanying Colonel Roosevelt were Robert Bacon, former assistant secretary of state; Truman H. Newberry, former secretary of the navy; Gifford Pinchot, James R. Garfield, Regis H. Post, former governor of Porto Rico; Dr. Alexander Lambert, Jacob A. Riis, Dr. Rixey, former surgeon general of the navy; Lawrence Abbott, W. Emlen Roosevelt, and his son, Phillip; William Loeb, Jr., Gilson Gardner, L. A. Curtis, O. K. Davis, Frank Tyree, John Callan O'Loughlin and James Sloan. All of these are witnesses. Sloan and Tyree are secret service men who accompanied Colonel Roosevelt on many of his campaign tours.

The distinguished plaintiff entered the court room with rapid strides, and there was a craning of necks for a moment to see him, but there was no demonstration, and presently the spectators had eyes only for the veniremen examined.

George A. Newett, the defendant, whose paper, the Iron Ore, of Ishpeming, Mich., alleged that Colonel Roosevelt "got drunk, and that not infrequently," sat at a table with his lawyers, William P. Belden, of Ishpeming, and Horace Andrews, of Cleveland. He appeared exhausted from his recent serious illness, and sat much of the time with his eyes closed.

Roosevelt in Jovial Mood.

The former president was one of a number occupying seats within the railing, and by his side during most of the afternoon sat Mr. Garfield. Myron Sherwood, a local lawyer and mine owner, a casual visitor at the trial, by chance occupied the seat on Colonel Roosevelt's left, but they found time to whisper a few words to Economy--An Ever-Pertinent Theme.

There are various ways of exercising judicious economy, chiefly by going to such merchants whose prices afford you the most substantial savings, quality of merchandise considered.

The easiest way is to locate the best buying places through the advertising that these stores do.

Study The Constitution advertisements if you want to practice the kind of economy that will put real dollars in the family purse—not imaginary dollars.

Take up the paper at any time, but more particularly when you have some real immediate need.

Look the advertisements through and you will be surprised to note how much you can save.

It is a mighty good habit form.

And it is a good thing to encourage in your friends.

GENERAL PROBE BEGUN OF THE POSTAL SERVICE

Atlanta Office May Be Investigated—No Present Movement to Oust McKee.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, May 26.—(Special.)—Postmaster General Burleson may order an investigation of the Atlanta postoffice in connection with the general inquiry he has put on foot to ascertain the cause for the present inefficiency postal service.

The outstanding reasons now given for mail deliveries is the great growth of the parcel post system and the operation of the 8-hour law for postal clerks and carriers. Back of all is the "economy" program of the Hitchcock administration and failure to provide for the extension of the service.

Daniel C. Roper, the first assistant postmaster general, when asked about the reported investigation said that inspectors had been sent to the large cities of the east where the congestion is greatest and the need of relief most pressing.

Atlanta's postoffice will be investigated later, he said. He professed to have no information about any movement on foot to oust H. L. McKee, the present postmaster.

Overman Attacks Civil Service.

President Taft's efficiency and economy commission was today quoted by Senator Overman, of North Carolina, in support of his claim that the civil service has not been impartially administered, but has been used as a cloak to protect political workers.

In a resolution which he offered and which the senate adopted, he asks the president to submit to the senate that part of the commission's report of March, 1913, dealing with the operation of the civil service. "That report shows that the law has been shamefully abused and that its administration has been rotten to the core," he declared.

While no objection was made to the resolution, republican senators vigorously oppose the attempt to upset the civil service organization.

Senator Gallinger, of New Hampshire, indicated that such a movement would be vigorously resisted. Senator Crawford, of South Dakota, in an interview announced his hostility to the entire raid on the merit system; Senator Brandegee, of Connecticut, also stated that the change would not be effected without a fight.

Alaska Marshalship for Georgia.

Lewis T. Erwin, whose nomination to be United States marshal in Alaska, has been favorably acted upon by the senate judiciary committee, is a native of Georgia. He was born and raised in Bartow county, and later moved to Tennessee and thence to Alaska.

Opponents of Mr. Erwin brought his matrimonial affairs into the fight against him. While on his way to the Baltimore convention to work for Wilson's nomination he was arrested at Yakima, Wash., on a charge of contempt of court for failure to pay his divorced wife alimony. The case was compromised for $250.

All these charges were investigated by the senate committee which recommended favorable action on his nomination.

VIRGINIANS COMING FOR LEE'S REMAINS

Bones of "Light Horse Harry" to Be Taken From Georgia to Native State.

Roanoke, Va., May 26.—A committee of the Virginia legislature starts for Georgia today for the purpose of bringing to his native state the remains of General Henry Lee, better known as "Light Horse Harry Lee," the father of General Robert E. Lee.

General Lee died at Savannah on his return journey from Cuba, where he had been on account of his health. He was buried on Cumberland island, near that city, and his grave has since been cared for by the Georgia chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The general assembly of 1861 appropriated the sum of $500 for the purpose of having his remains brought back to Virginia, but the war between the states prevented.

At the present session of the general assembly a committee of three was appointed to carry into effect the act of 1861.

The remains will be interred in the vault of the Lee family, in the Lee chapel, at Washington and Lee university, but without ceremony, save for an escort of cadet corps of the Virginia Military institute and students of the Washington and Lee university. The committee consists of Hon. Hunter A. White, member of the house from Rockbridge county, chairman, or Hon. John O. Daniels, member from the counties of Loudoin and Fauquier, and Hon. John M. Hart, or Roanoke, state senator from the fourth district.

BOUGHT MOTORCYCLE AND RODE TO DEATH

Wilmington, N. C., May 26.—Speeding up a main street at Newbern, N. C., today, Forrest Lee, of the revenue cutter Pamlico, stationed there, was dashed from a motorcycle. He was driving around a curve at a rate of sixty miles an hour, and instantly killed. Lee had just purchased the machine and was not familiar with its mechanism.

NO RIDING ASTRIDE ALLOWED TO WOMEN

Order Has Caused Many Expressions of Protest and Commendation—Activities at Camp Stewart.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 26.—Camp A. P. Stewart and the thousands of visitors in the city tonight eagerly awaited the formal opening tomorrow of the twenty-third annual United Confederate Veterans' reunion, which will continue for three days.

Interest on the eve of the first session centered in the weather, the election of a commander-in-chief and the contest for the next annual reunion city.

Threatening clouds hovered on the brow of Lookout mountain the greater part of the day. Despite the forecast for fair weather, a slight precipitation fell early in the afternoon and again tonight. This rain only welded closer together the intertwining United States and confederate flags and buntings with which the city is abundantly adorned. The showers also were beneficial in settling the dust, which had accumulated in the vicinity of Camp Stewart from the incessant marching of veterans to the tent city. Fair weather is predicted for tomorrow.

General Young to Be Re-Elected.

While indications tonight were that there is a possibility of a contest over the election of a commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, it was generally believed that General Bennett H. Young, the present commander, would in all probability be re-elected. General Young served during the war with the rank of colonel on the command of General Nathan Bedford Forrest, known throughout the country as the "Wizard of the Saddle." General Young was chosen at the last reunion, held in Macon, Ga.

Friends of General K. M. Van Zandt, of Fort Worth, Texas, commander of the trans-Mississippi department, whose name has been mentioned as a possible successor to General Young, tonight announced that the Texas general had declined to allow his name to be suggested as a candidate for the office. General Van Zandt last year was General Young's closest contestant for the honor.

Tulsa, Okla., and Jacksonville, Fla., delegations tonight entered the field for the 1914 United Confederate Veterans' reunion. Other cities in the contest include Nashville, Tenn.; Richmond, Va.; Baltimore, Md., and San Antonio, Texas. A delegation from *Denver, Colo., also is in the city en*deavoring to secure the reunion of the 1915 reunion for that city.

Activities at Camp Stewart.

Activities at Camp A. P. Stewart late today assumed regular army proportions. At one time during the afternoon a complete rout of the sturdy veterans occurred. Noted cavalrymen and invincible infantrymen fled in terror with all the agility they could muster. The enemy was a sudden shower which came without warning, and about noon after the soldiers had rushed pell mell into the near-by tents.

The first "rations" of the encampment were served in the "mess" tent tonight. This impromptu dining room has a capacity of 2,500 and was filled, though many veterans obtained food in the city. Steaming tins of coffee and abundant supplies of food were served to all.

After the evening meal, campfires were kindled. Seated around these coals, the veterans recounted most of the important battles and many encampments which occurred during the war between the states.

Taps was sounded early and the stillness of the camp was undisturbed except for the tramp of incoming detachments hich continued to arrive during the night.

No Women to Straddle Horses.

The recent official orders of General J. P. Hickman, commander of the Tennessee division, forbidding women Veterans, and grand marshal of the veterans' parade, prohibiting women from riding astride during the reunion here, brought forth many expressions of protest and commendation.

Opposition to the order is being voiced largely by some of the sponsors and maids of honor affected.

In defense of General Hickman's order, Dr. A. A. Lyon, of Nashville, Tenn., secretary of the Army and Navy Medical association, U. C. V., today is quoted as follows:

"This unnatural cross saddle movement appears but another phase of growth of this twentieth century agitation among a lot of distempered women, who are clamoring for 'women's rights.'

Women Who Bar Straddle Saddle.

"It is known that Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, Mr. Roosevelt's eldest daughter, and Miss Helen Taft, eschewed the cross saddle entirely, and if President Wilson will pardon even an allusion to his daughters on this sub-

In Blazing Bi-Plane He Volplaned From Height of 1,200 Feet and Lives

Salisbury, England, May 26.—Volplaning from a height of 1,200 feet in a blazing biplane, the British aviator, Coloyns Pizey, and a passenger, H. Fellows, reached the ground in safety this evening and stepped from the machine just as an explosion of the gasoline tank wrecked it. The aeroplane was in easy flight over the outskirts of the town when suddenly the carburetor took fire. Breaking the inlet valve, the aviator shut off the gasoline and started a steep volplane. The rush of air fanned the flames, and to those who witnessed the incident, it seemed as though the men had but a slender chance for life. Tongues of fire swept under the passenger's seat, and Fellows drew himself up and clung to the stays whilhe the aeroplane made its swift descent.

Pizey held the wheel in firm grip, although the flames scorched his hands, and succeeded in making a splendid landing. Just as the men sprang from the machine the gas tank blew up, but they practically escaped injury.

WILSON DRAGS TARIFF LOBBY INTO THE OPEN

President Issues a Statement Declaring That Agents of the Special Interests Are Thick in National Capital.

MONEY WITHOUT LIMIT BEING SPENT BY LOBBY

Effort Being Made to Create Sentiment Hostile to Tariff Revision—The Government Should Be Relieved of Lobby

Washington, May 26.—President Wilson stirred congressional circles today when an emphatic statement denouncing the "industrious" and "insidious" lobby in Washington attempting to create public sentiment against certain features of the Underwood tariff bill. This was accepted at the capitol as referring to the unusual efforts being made against free raw wool and free sugar.

While the president was declaring it his opinion that the public should be relieved from the intolerable burden," senators and representatives were viewing on every hand the evidences of the lobbyists which beset them; and significance was attached to a statement made by Senator Simmons, chairman of the finance committee, which was that the tariff bill in hand, that, in his opinion, the lobbyists were not making any headway.

To Regulate Lobbying.

The president's declaration that the lobbyists were so thick "that one could not throw a brick without hitting one," revived interest in two bills recently introduced in the house and senate to regulate lobbying on pending legislation.

Senator Kenyon, of Iowa, and Representative C. B. Smith, of New York, have declared their intention to press bills they have introduced which would restrict the work of lobbyists, require their registration and require that they be licensed to appear before any committee or to carry on a campaign for or against proposed legislation. SHERIDANS FREED BY RENO DIVORCE GRANTED HUSBAND Wife Believes Her Sociological Work Is of Greater Importance Than Maintenance of Domestic Relations.

MRS. SHERIDAN HEAD OF "FIRESIDE" MOVEMENT

Former Atlanta Musician Is Intimate Friend of Family of President Wilson—Enlists His Daughter in Cause.

New York, May 26.—(Special.)—Mrs. Sarah MacDonald Sheridan, intimate friend of President Wilson and his family, musician, sociologist and founder of the "New National Fireside" movement for the opening of the public school buildings after hours as neighborhood social centers, believes her work of greater import than the maintenance of purely domestic relations.

Rather than give it all up to join Charles Oscar Sheridan in Nevada, where he had gone four years ago because of ill health, she permitted her husband, without protest, to obtain a divorce in Reno.

Mr. Sheridan obtained his decree of absolute divorce on Saturday.

"Two Impulses Govern My Life."

"My life has been devoted to two great impulses," she said today in her apartment at No. 36 Gramercy Park. "Through my voice I have given myself for thirty years to sociological work, retaining from my services only enough to support life and to give my two children all that it was possible for a mother to give.

"I have lived to see my son, Mark Sheridan, established in the old family home, Atlanta, as one of the most promising young mural painters of the day. My daughter I lived to see happily married to the younger son of one of England's noblest families, David Compton.

"This accomplished, I feel that my family life has been full. My remaining years hold the great purpose of incessant work for the betterment of social conditions."

Mrs. Sheridan has just returned from a visit to the white house. It was through her that Miss Margaret Wilson became interested in the "National Fireside" idea, and the two are working hand in hand toward the accomplishment of their purpose.

Remarkable Career Of Mrs. Sheridan.

Mrs. Sheridan has had a remarkable career. Her father, James MacDonald, was one of the leading men in Georgia at the time of the civil war. Too old to serve in the field, he gave all his property to the confederacy and died poor. From girlhood Mrs. Sheridan devoted herself to the improvement of social conditions among the people in her own state.

Instead of seeking personal fame and fortune on the operatic stage, she traveled from one Georgia village to another, giving recitals and turning almost every dollar over to one sociological cause or another. It was through her voice and untiring devotion that the first funds for the establishment of the now famous Martha Berry industrial school, in Georgia, were raised.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan were married in Atlanta in 1882.

BURNS AGENCY QUITS THE PHAGAN CASE; TOBIE LEAVES TODAY

WHAT IS WRONG WITH CURRENCY?

Senate Banking Committee Is Trying to Find Out From Bankers—Questions Sent to Bankers.

Washington, May 26.—The senate banking and currency committee began its investigation of what is the matter with the nation's currency system and how its defects should be remedied late today, when a list of questions to be sent to bankers and financial experts was approved and prepared for immediate distribution. There are thirty-two questions in the list, enough, the committee believes, after careful consideration, to delve thoroughly into the subject of currency reform. With them to the financial experts will go a letter suggesting answers be given to such as seem worth while.

"These questions," the letter says, "are not to be understood as intimating what point of view will be taken by the committee, nor even by the member who has proposed any particular question."

Summary of the Questions.

The questions summarized, follow:

What are the essential defects of our banking and currency system?

Enumerate its advantages and disadvantages and what purposes are to be attained by an improved system.

Should national banks continue to have a bond-secured currency and should present reserve requirements for such banks be changed?

Should elastic currency be authorized, and if so, should it be limited, and to what amount; should it be notes of individual banks, a central reserve association, a number of regional associations, or the treasury?

If such notes are from the treasury, should they be on pledge of security, and of what kind, and should they be a first lien of the government on the concern to which issued?

Should all currency have a gold basis, and how should it be issued, and what per cent of reserve should be required?

What should be the limit if notes are issued to or by an association, and should it be based on capital stock and surplus?

What device should be used to retire such currency when demand subsides?

As to Central Association.

Should a tax be laid on the currency graduated to conform with the volume issued by the reserve associations or with the length of time outstanding?

Should there be a central association with branches or reserve associations, with or without a central control, and if a number under such control, should it be wholly with representatives of the associations, wholly by the government, or by both?

Should such association have a geographical territory and exercise its reserve functions there exclusively, or should members of banks be permitted to choose which near association they should join, disregarding fixed territory?

Should state banks or trust companies be stockholders in such association and under what conditions?

How many regional reserve associations should there be?

What should be the minimum capital stock, and what amount to each bank?

How should directors of such association be elected and in what numbers, powers and terms of office?

What should be the general nature of business of such association? Should it accept credits other than those of banks, pay interest on deposits; discount double-name commercial paper for member banks on equal terms to all and should its discount rate be public, subject to weekly change?

Should it loan directly to member banks with or without collateral security, with interest equal for all the public and subject to weekly change, and should reserve associations be permitted to deal with each in purchase and sale of paper, exchange security and gold?

The Government Deposits.

Should government deposits be withdrawn from banks and placed with such associations; how should they be apportioned, at what interest, if any, and how soon could this be done?

Should a national bank keep reserve with the association to which it belongs, except that in its vaults, or should it be allowed to use other associations and if so, how much?

Should a reserve association be required to maintain a reserve within its deposits? What amount? In gold only, or lawful money?

Should liability of each member bank be limited to its stock subscription, and if not, what should be its liability?

Should each association do business with banks other than members, and of what character?

Should national banks be permitted upon payment of a commission, to loan their credit by accepting bills arising out of the ordinary courses of commerce, and should reserve associations be permitted to deal in those acceptances in transactions with banks or other associations?

Should there be a limit to such acceptances, and what limit?

What dividends should associations be permitted to pay their banks, and should any share of the profits of an association be distributed to member banks in proportion to the average deposits during the year?

What is your opinion of the plan of the national monetary commission, and what modifications would you suggest, if any?

Asset-Secured Currency.

Senator Kittredge, republican, member of the senate committee on banking and currency, introduced today a bill proposing a system of "asset-secured" currency for national banks, under which the banks of the country could, if necessary, issue emergency currency to the total amount of $200,000,000. The bill would give banks

Dan P. Lehon Holds Conference With Solicitor General Hugh Dorsey and Other Officials and Then Makes Announcement of Severance of Connection With Case.

FELDER TO CONTINUE PROBE, HE DECLARES; NO STATEMENT SOON

"One of the Girls" in the Pencil Factory Brings Statement to The Constitution Defending the Character of Employees — Bribery Attempts Are Denied.

As a startling climax to the sensational turn of affairs in the Mary Phagan murder investigation, it was announced yesterday by Dan P. Lehon, superintendent of the Burns southern offices, that his agency had retired from the investigation of the Atlanta mystery.

The announcement was made after a conference he held for several hours with Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey and other officials promoting the investigation. C. W. Tobie, chief of the Burns criminal department, who has been in command of the Burns men at work on the case, leaves for Chicago this morning.

Tobie Makes Statement.

Tobie was seen last night by a reporter for The Constitution in his apartments at the Piedmont hotel. He was preparing to leave the city, but spared time to give the newspaper man a statement regarding the departure of the Burns forces and their attitude in the Mary Phagan case. General Superintendent Lehon, he said, left Atlanta Monday afternoon.

"The connection of the William J. Burns agency with the Phagan case," he told the reporter, "is now severed entirely. We have nothing whatever to do with the investigation. When these bribery charges were published I immediately notified Dan Lehon, general superintendent of the southern branches of our organization.

"He came to Atlanta Monday morning. After he and I had conferred and he had talked with the solicitor general and other officials interested in the case, his decision was to drop operations and return to Chicago. I will probably leave tomorrow or the following day—just as soon as matters can be satisfactorily arranged."

"What is the principal reason for your severance of connection?" he was asked.

"Primarily, because, in the face of open opposition and efforts to frustrate our work, we cannot successfully operate," he said. "We cannot render service proportionate to the money we are being paid. It is being insinuated by certain forces that we are striving to shield Frank.

Frank Guilty, I Believe.

"That is absurd. From what I developed in my investigation I am convinced that Frank is the guilty man. We were working on the theory that he was the slayer. We were employed to find the slayer. We would have done it, too, and pinned the guilt beyond a doubt, had we remained longer on the ground."

Tobie said the bribery charges of Chief Lanford and the counter charges were unfortunate, in that they create a situation which deplorably hampers the investigation of the murder.

"Solicitor Dorsey told Lehon," Tobie said, "that he possessed evidence to convict Frank, and that the investigation had been so thorough and successful that, really, the Burns men would not be greatly needed any longer. He praised us for the work we did in the short time we were on the case, and said we had developed new phases which would prove invaluable to his case."

Confidence in Felder.

The Burns agent also declared his belief in Colonel Felder's sincere and honest attitude in the Phagan case. He said the attorney had employed his agency only to apprehend the slayer, and that upon his arrival in Atlanta, he had been told by Felder that, from all appearances, Frank was guilty.

He stated, too, that he had never exerted a single effort toward investigating alleged corruption in the police or detective department, and that he had never anticipated doing so.

Colonel T. B. Felder, foremost figure in the bribery charges and counter charges of police corruption, would make no statement to reporters Monday. He would not comment himself on Lehon's statement that the Burns men had detached themselves from the Phagan investigation.

Mr. Felder says, however, that his individual investigation would continue as in the past, and that he had no intention whatever of ending his efforts. Not until he deems it reasonable, he declares, will he issue additional statements to the newspapers.

Lehon Reaches Atlanta.

Lehon came from New Orleans Monday in answer to instructions given. It is said, from his New York office, sending him to investigate the Atlanta situation. He immediately conferred with the solicitor general and others.

The indictment of Leo Frank has not served to lessen in the slightest the energy of the police headquarters detectives, the Pinkerton men and the solicitor general's staff. Chief Lanford and Harry Scott, of the Pinkertons, both say that they each unearthed evidence sufficient to convict the suspected superintendent. No new developments arose Monday.

Frank maintains his attitude of silence, refusing to see anyone besides his friends and relatives. A stranger greeting him in his cell at the Tower gets only a fleeting glimpse of the prisoner.

Bribery Attempts Denied.

Strong denial is made, however, of rumored bribery attempts to pay witnesses for the prosecution to leave the city. These denials are made by attorneys representing the suspect. Another denial of a published report was made Monday by Colonel Felder, who declared that the rumor of his elimination from the Phagan case was false to the core, and that his efforts, instead of slackening, would continue with renewed vigor.

It was published that Mr. Felder is eliminated entirely from the case, and that up until the time he began to "bombard" the public with statements of his belief of Frank's guilt, it was generally believed he was in the employ. Complete denial is made of this report.

The following unsigned statement has been personally submitted to The Constitution by a young girl employee of the National Pencil factory, who champions conditions in that plant and the character of their imprisoned superintendent:

"I wish to speak in behalf of our factory and the girls working there and would like for the public to know that we all thought just as much of little Mary Phagan as we possibly could, and are just as anxious to see the guilty punished as the rest of the public.

"Nothing was ever said about the girls of the National Pencil factory until after the terrible murder, but since, there has been one continual talk just as though we were to blame for the deed.

Good As Any Girls.

"If the public would only interest themselves enough to look into other factories and stores, they would soon find that the girls of the National Pencil factory are just as good as any other set of working girls in the city.

"Of course, it looks rather hard to the public for us to have to work in the building where one of our companions was so horribly murdered, but even at that, we are all poor girls, trying to make an honest living and we try not to think of the grewsome tragedy any more than possible, and we have the interest of the company too much at heart to desert them in times of trouble.

"We try to look on the bright side of this trouble, and hope it will be only a few days until everything will be all right once more. We all hope and pray that the guilty will be duly punished and the innocent given their freedom, for we all feel that our superintendent was and still is a soul himself so much as to think such a thing, much less commit such a horrible crime.

"Hoping the guilty man will soon be brought to justice, and that the public will soon be satisfied, I am

"A girl of the National Pencil factory."

Confers With Police.

C. C. Sears, superintendent of the Atlanta branch of the Burns detective agency, communicated with Chief Beavers and Chief Lanford Monday afternoon, telling them of the severance of connection with the Phagan investigation, and notifying them that he would mail letters of explanation to the police department some time today.

According to Chief Lanford, Superintendent Sears gave as the reason for the Burns action the desire to get out of an unfortunate situation. Tobie, he said, would return immediately to Chicago to resume his duties as chief of the criminal department.

Regarding the Burns' agent, Chief Lanford has said:

"Tobie, I believe, is straight and honest. He was victimized by Felder. The Burns man, I am convinced, was working toward the interest of those seeking to clear the mystery. He just boarded the wrong boat, that was all—like the old dog Tray, got mixed in the wrong company."

CHIEF JAMES L. BEAVERS' REPLY TO MAYOR WOODWARD

"If Beavers and Lanford permitted Febuary, 'a trusted man,' to go out and circulate lies about corruption in the police department in an effort to trap someone, they have debauched their officers, and the sooner they are put out the better it will be for the men who work under them."

Mayor James G. Woodward made the above reply to Chief James L. Beavers in a statement to The Constitution late Monday afternoon. The mayor declared that Febuary's part in the conspiracy has destroyed his usefulness with the department, and he is not fit to serve with honorable men.

"In my opinion, and I believe every decent citizen of Atlanta will agree with me, Febuary is not fit to serve in the department in any capacity," Mayor Woodward continued. "How can Beavers or Lanford, or the members of the police commission, place faith in him. He has dragged the department through filth of his own making. He has cast reflection, by his act, on the blue uniform."

Beavers' Charge Refuted.

Mayor Woodward scathingly denounced Chief Beavers' allegation that he (Woodward) urged the reopening of the Manhattan avenue district. He admits telling Beavers that the district would be opened as a result of public demand for the interest of society, because of the scattered conditions.

He declared that he has never placed a straw in the way of Chief Beavers' vice crusade, and explained that whenever he called the chief to his office it was for the purpose of referring complaints to him—complaints of bad conditions in respectable neighborhoods.

Mayor Woodward said that on one occasion he referred to the chief a letter written by a respectable woman—the mother of little children—who complained that there was an immoral house near her home, and she wanted the police to protect her and her babies.

"This woman told me that she had written Chief Beavers about the house some ten days before—she wrote me, and nothing was ever done," Mayor Woodward said. "All that I have ever heard of the complaint is that the house is quieted down."

Mayor Woodward says that the only time he has called Beavers to task was when he received complaints of women being insulted in the central portions of the city.

Protect Respectable Women.

"I told him of the conditions as reported to me, and urged him to clean up the central portions of the city so that respectable women might be safe."

As to the Eva Clark affair, Mayor Woodward said that the women came to him and explained that herself and her mother wanted to move into a house near the Grady hospital—95 Armstrong street—and that he informed her that she had the right to live wherever she pleased, just so long as she conducted a moral house and lived within the law. He says that he laid the whole matter before Beavers just as the Clark women laid it before him.

Mayor Woodward further stated that the whole affair casts a dirty reflection on the heads of the police department and that the part they played in it branded them as being unfit to guard the lives and property of the people of Atlanta.

"Men who will allow their personal characters and their offices to be dragged through such low channels to gain the respect and esteem of the people they serve," he said. "When Febuary came to me and told me that Beavers and Lanford were protecting disorderly houses and blind tigers, I knew that it was either true or that he was lying.

Gave Him Benefit of Doubt.

"I decided, for the time being, to give him the benefit of the doubt. If I had known that that visit to the Williams house would be the last time I would see him I would have shown him up for the liar that he is. But in the interest of the public I decided to give him leeway. I did not expose him, because I did not want to do the police department an injustice.

"I think I have made my position clear to the people. I am just as anxious now as I was at that time to correct any evils in the city government."

FEBUARY AND THE POLICE ARE ATTACKED BY MALOR

Chief of Police James L. Beavers issued the following statement Monday morning:

"As for Colyar, I never heard of him until this thing came up. He may be a crook. As far as I know, it seems that Mr. Felder has known him for a long time, but it is no uncommon thing for one crook to turn up another to the police, or turn state's evidence.

"When I heard of this deal that Mr. Felder was trying to make in the Phagan case, I told Chief Lanford to advise with Solicitor Dorsey and get his advice in the matter. He did this. I did not want anything done that would not be perfectly legitimate.

"G. C. Febuary, who is a trusted man in the detective department, was instructed to carry out the deal with him. Now it appears that Mr. Felder has been closely associated with Colyar for a long time and certainly should have known what manner of man he is.

"If he knew him to be a crook, why did he enter into a deal like this with him if he wished to do the straight thing? I say that I never heard of this man Colyar, but I would have listened to any report or rumor in hunting for the guilty party in a case like that of the Phagan murder.

"It seems that Mr. Felder in his ramifications through the press tries to get eloquent and undertakes to tell about the government of Scotland and the conditions in Ireland, as if that had anything to do with this case he's trying to distract attention from.

"What he has done and as far as his evidence he claims to have about my moral turpitude as chief of police or as a citizen, I defy him to show anything wrong. If he is a good, loyal citizen, which he claims to be, why did he not go to the police commission and lay the evidence before them?

Would Be in South Carolina.

"Now, Mr. Felder knows well enough that if he had anything that would have been damaging against the police department he would have hurried to bring it to the proper authorities.

"That is what you are hired to do by a gang you are very close to.

"I would state that some one has been misled by Mr. Felder, or no doubt he would be in South Carolina today, where he belongs.

"So much for Mr. Felder.

"I see that Mr. Woodward says he has nothing against me personally. Now I don't quite understand his connection with the Felder-Colyar affair. He knew that G. C. Febuary was a trusted employee of the police department and if Febuary knew of crookedness or graft in the department he would have forced him to divulge it or seen that he was turned out of the department.

Would Have Been Guilty.

"If Febuary had known anything of the kind and not made it known he would have been equally guilty.

"Mr. Woodward knows that in the frequent talks with me since he has been mayor there has hardly been a time that he did not bring up the question of the red light district, and he gave me to understand in his first talk with me that these women should be allowed to go back to Manhattan avenue where they had previously plied their nefarious trade.

"No longer than last Saturday a week ago he asked me if I was willing for Eva Clark and her mother to move into a house on Armstrong street in front of the Grady hospital, where they had previously lived.

As to Eva Clark.

"I told him I would answer him as I did Alderman McClelland; that it was none of my business as long as she did not violate the law, but that if she did she would have to take the consequences.

"Mr. Woodward also told me the first of the year that if my vice policy continued the police department would be reeking with graft like the New York department.

Graft an Outside.

"I told him that no graft had ever existed and I was satisfied there would never be any.

"He told him that from what I had heard someone outside the police department had been receiving money from the vice traffic that virtually amounted to graft and extortion.

"I am ready and willing to compare my past record both as a citizen and as an official with Mr. Woodward as to which is the right and which is in the wrong."

ject. I will wage an imaginary bet of a $50 gold piece against the stump of a cigar that the public will never have occasion to associate any one of them with the cross saddle.

"Women have been encroaching on us poor fellows for years; they have robbed us of our hats, coats, shirts, collars, top boots; have long been tugging at our trousers, and I undertstand they began a short time ago to tinker with our socks.

"But worst of all they have jumped astride our saddle horses.

"On the occasion of a recent visit to Washington and New York city I satisfied myself that the truly refined and elegant ladies of these cities who exercise on horseback, rode on side saddle."

Indications are that General Hickman's order will be rigidly enforced.

The Memorial Association.

At a meeting of the Confederate States Memorial association, held this afternoon, a cordial welcome was extended to the visiting veterans by this organization of women. A glowing tribute was paid the members of the association present in an address by A. W. Chambliss, representing the Sons of Confederate Veterans.

Radical changes in the work of the Confederate States' Memorial association were predicted by Mrs. W. J. Behan, of New Orleans, in an address before the members of the body she declared that too much attention had been devoted to honoring the memory of the dead and not enough toward making provision for the living. She asserted that resolutions would be introduced tomorrow, which, if adopted, would materially change the policy of the organization in this respect.

An enthusiastic meeting, the first of their reunion, was held tonight by the Sons of Confederate Veterans. A feature of the occasion was the singing of the confederate choir, composed of young women from Virginia and Tennessee. All of the selections rendered were southern melodies, and brought forth repeated cheers from the Sons & Veterans and veterans present.

Among the speakers were General J. P. Norfleet, of Memphis, commander-in-chief of the Sons of Confederate Veterans; General Gordon Richardson, of Georgia; W. McDonald Lee, of Virginia, and A. W. Hawkes, of Maryland.

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH THE CURRENCY

authority to issue the new notes to an amount not greater than the difference between their present bond-secured currency and their total paid-in capital. The new notes would constitute a "first and preferred lien" upon all of the assets of the bank by which they were issued.

To restrict the use of the new currency to emergencies, the Nelson bill proposes a tax of 4 per cent per year on the extra notes, increasing in rate monthly, and reaching 10 per cent in *five months. In a statement accom*panying the bill, Senator Nelson drew attention to the fact that the total amount of clearing house certificates issued during the financial crisis of 1907 was $238,000,000, or nearly $50,000,000 less than the amount of emergency currency that would be made available under his plan.

Washington, May 26.—Representative Neeley, of Kansas, asked President Wilson today to direct Attorney General McReynolds to foreclose a mortgage on a 100-mile strip of railroad owned by the Missouri Pacific between Atchison and Waterville, Kan., to recover $4,500,000 alleged to be due the government from aid by bonds issued in 1862. Mr. Neeley has a resolution in congress to the same effect. Mr. Wilson promised to study the question.

ENEMY SHOT DOWN BY "HUB" TALLEY

Police Record of Notorious Blind Tiger Stretches Back Eight Years, Says Sergeant Bullard.

"Hub" Talley, who yesterday morning shot and probably fatally injured George Blackstock at 224 Peters street, had not been captured at a late hour last night, although both city and county police had been on the lookout for him all day. Blackstock, who is also known to the police, is at Grady hospital with a wound just above his heart, and is expected to die.

According to the police, Talley met his man and without a word of warning drew his revolver and fired point-blank at him and then coolly went into the house of his brother, W. B. Talley, put on his coat and walked away before police arrived.

Information secured by the police shows that Blackstock, who is a stonemason, living at 56 Crumley Street, is said to have told W. B. Talley that "Hub" had stole his whisky, and that this caused the shooting. Blackstock refused to make any statement about the affair.

All Know Talley by Sight.

Probably every officer on both the city and county police knows Talley by sight, and should he try to hide anywhere in Fulton county the chances are that he would be identified and arrested at once.

Talley, who has been known for the past ten years as a seller of "blind tiger" whisky, and a "repeater" in Recorder Calhoun's court, has a record that reaches into the higher courts, where more serious offenses are tried, as well as a record that carries his name into the ordinary's office.

An indictment for assault with intent to murder now stands against him on the superior court docket. The case was nolle prossed on January 15, 1912.

Talley was also adjudged insane before Judge John R. Wilkinson on July 9, 1912, and was sent to the state asylum at Milledgeville, where he remained for a time and was released and returned to Atlanta.

The assault with intent to murder charge shown in the indictment that on May 17, 1911, Talley shot at a well known man with intent to kill him. He was indicted shortly after that with Officer B. B. Posey appearing as prosecutor against him.

Never Able to Find Man.

The case dragged on till January of the next year, and the police were never able to discover the man at whom Talley is said to have fired.

The solicitor explained that finally he ordered the case nolle prossed, when it appeared that the man's identity would never be disclosed. Talley paid the costs, amounting to $42.36, and was freed.

He soon began his usual offenses again and was haled into the recorder's court on charges of selling whisky. He was convicted and was placed on bond. Later he was allowed to settle these cases, and Talley was not heard from in court circles until the shooting which took place Monday morning.

"Why, it runs back eight or ten years, and would take a day's work to run down," said Sergeant Bullard, Monday afternoon, when asked about Talley's police court record.

"We've had him down here for almost every conceivable offense," he continued, "and the docket is cluttered with charges against him. There are said to be forty-two cases against him in the last two years.

Enemies in Blind Tigering.

An interesting phase of Talley's life as a blind tiger is the charge often made among police that Talley and Dan Shaw, known as "King of Blind Tigers," were bitter enemies, and while it was never openly stated, it has often been claimed that Talley and his friends were responsible for the recent conviction of Shaw.

"Professional jealousy" is named as the original cause of the bitterness that arose between the two rivals for superiority in the unenviable record of violating the law which these two men amassed.

That the police often worked one against the other and gave them ample opportunity to uncover each other's offenses is believed to be one reason why both were so frequently convicted on charges of selling liquor.

Leaf Tobacco Stocks.

Washington, May 26.—Leaf tobacco held by manufacturers and dealers on April 1 amounted to 1,359,252,197 pounds, compared with 1,047,404,560 pounds on October 1 last the census bureau today announced in its second report on tobacco. Chewing, smoking, snuff and export types amounted to 914,926,061 pounds; cigar types, 93,556,026 pounds and imported types, 61,763,509 pounds.

For Pure Cloth and Leather.

Washington, May 26.—Representative Lindquist has enlisted the National Laundrymen's association in a campaign for his bill for pure cloth fabrics and leather. Sixty-three hundred women's clubs have promised to cooperate and now every laundryman in the association has agreed to inclose in all delivered packages a booklet asking the recipient to write his congressman to support the bill.

HAS NARROW ESCAPE IN "SKIN GAME" RAID

Policeman Milam Attacked by Negro Gambler, Who Is Shot Trying to Escape.

While raiding a negro "skin game" at 67 Thurman street last night at 8 o'clock, Call Officer Milam had a narrow escape from death at the hands of a big negro named Cliff McClendon.

Milam, with his partner, Call Officer Wood, obtained entrance to the house, and just as Milam opened the door, the negro made a lunge at him with a long, sharp knife. Officer Wood, who was on the other side of the room, called to Milam to watch out. Milam knocked the negro back and the negro ran at him with the knife a second time, and the officer was compelled to shoot in self-defense. The bullet went through the negro's neck, and he ran for two blocks before he was finally caught. He was carried to the Grady hospital. Four other negroes were captured while attempting to escape.

This is the third time within two weeks and a half that an officer has been in danger in raiding a crap game. Several weeks ago Detective S. P. Webb was shot in the jaw while raiding a game near Alexander street. Sunday night a negro shot twice at Patrolman C. F. Preston on Auburn avenue when ordered to move on by the officer. Last night's affair makes the third time.

Officers say that the negroes of Atlanta have become exceedingly surly and unruly in the past few months, and are giving no end of trouble. They are being rounded in as fast as new violations are made.

Dr. Donaldson in City.

Rev. C. N. Donaldson, D.D., pastor of the First Baptist church, Charleston, S. C., arrived in the city Monday morning and delivered an address before the Baptist Ministers' conference at their morning session. Dr. Donaldson will be in Atlanta or Kirkwood until Saturday, when he returns to fill his pulpit in Charleston on Sunday. He is greatly pleased and encouraged in his new field of labor.

Workman Is Hurt.

Knocked unconscious with a hole cut in his head by a falling iron, while working on the twelfth floor of Hotel Winecoff, L. Pagel, a laborer, was rushed to the Tabernacle infirmary in Patterson's ambulance yesterday, and it was some time before he regained consciousness. Besides gashing his face in several places, the iron which had fallen from the fourteenth floor, cut a three-inch hole in his head.

PRESTON MAKES NEW RECORD TRYING CASES

A new record for the city of Atlanta was established yesterday when Recorder Pro Tem. W. H. Preston tried 47 cases, most of whom were foreigners, in the remarkably short time of one hour. The 47 composed the crowd in the Continental club at 89 1-2 South Broad street, which was raided Sunday night.

When Judge Preston saw the great crowd of defendants, witnesses and officers, he said:

"I guess that we will take these in batches of ten," which was done. George Poulos, who ran the establishment, was bound over to the criminal court in the sum of $5,000, charged with running a disorderly house, keeping it open on the Sabbath day, tippling and running a gambling house.

Arlat Sumples, George Teaffas and Charlie Chureolos were bound over for gambling in the sum of $200 apiece. The rest were freed.

When Judge Preston was told by one of the witnesses and defendants that gambling and open selling of liquor had been going on there on Sunday, he said:

"I'm surprised that the police had never gotten onto this place before. I shall instruct the chief to see that it is immediately closed."

This Man Can Dislocate Every Part of His Body

Possibly the most curious of the many freaks of nature is shown in the person of Ellis Whitman, an ordinary looking young man, who reached Atlanta yesterday afternoon on a tour around the world. So loose are the ligaments which bind his anatomy together that he can dislocate practically every organ in his body.

The man can throw his head down into the lower portion of his body, apparently below his diaphram, until its beating is felt at his waist line. His hips and shoulders fall out of joint, and flip back into position with the utmost ease.

Whitman states that he has been giving demonstrations before various medical societies, and will endeavor to demonstrate his ability before the Fulton County Medical society.

By his remarkable control of the muscles and ligaments of his body, Whitman can perform several "stunts" that would make the professional vaudeville entertainer pall before him. By simply placing a pen on his hip and throwing the joint out of place, he can flip the pen across the room as an arrow is shot from a bow.

Standing 18 inches away from an object he can throw his right shoulder out of socket until the arm is so elongated that his fingers reach out and touch the object.

"Every doctor who has seen me perform these dislocations has warned me against it," says Whitman, "but it is my way of earning a living and I intend to keep it up as I have done from the time I was 5 years old, and my mother noticed the looseness of my ligaments."

"The dislocations I give," he continued, "are those of the shoulder, sub-clavicular, sub-coracoid, sub-glenoid, sub-acromin, sub-spinous; of the hips, anterior, posterior, sciatic; of the spine, scholiosis, kyphosis, lateral, curvature and lordosis."

Whitman, who gives his age as 24 years, states that he has been around the world in the course of his travels, and that he was used by Dr. Feinlerz, a professor in Heidleberg university, in demonstrations to show his students the new methods of setting dislocated bones.

He bears with him letters from many physicians, telling of his having given demonstrations before them, and he has recently returned from a trip to Newfoundland. He expects to remain here for two days, and then visit Tennessee. He is now stopping at 10 South Broad street.

MEETING TONIGHT WILL BOOST GROCERS' PARADE

There will be a meeting at Taft hall this evening at 8:15 o'clock of the retail grocers and commission men of Atlanta to perfect plans for the big parade which the retailers and their employees expect to pull off on June 4, to inaugurate the Wednesday half-holiday to be given during the months of June, July and August.

Interest in the half-holiday is growing daily, and there is no doubt that the parade will be one of the biggest seen in Atlanta. It is likely that there will be more than 100 automobiles in line. It was announced Monday that the meat packers would join in the celebration, and the commission men, with sixty-five autos. The Tip-Top bakery has also agreed to come in with a large quota of machines.

Among the speakers who will boost the movement along tonight are Harry Schlesinger, John McCullough and Olin Stamps.

EXPECTS BOLL WEEVIL INVASION IN AUGUST

Unless all signs fail, the boll weevil will begin operations in southwest Georgia this summer, probably the latter part of July or the first of August. The first counties to be attacked will be Clay, Early, Miller and Decatur. Such is the opinion of State Entomologist Lee Worsham, who discussed the situation yesterday.

"The weevil will reach that part of the state in ample time to do great damage," said Mr. Worsham, "and will probably destroy one-half to one-third of this season's crop. The advance into other parts of Georgia will be gradual, but in time the entire cotton belt will be infected."

Mr. Worsham said that the farmers of southwest Georgia had organized to fight the weevil, and if they persevered they might keep down he damage materially. He believed that by planting a cotton that would mature early a good percentage of the crop might be made to mature before the pest began its attack.

JABBED WITH UMBRELLA, HE SUES FOR $2,500

Charging that W. M. Henry attacked him with an umbrella in the lobby of the Alfriend building, on Peachtree, and attempted to poke the pointed end of the rainstick into his eyes, O. M. Sutton brought a $2,500 damage suit against Henry yesterday in superior court.

The schedule outlining the injuries Sutton claims to have inflicted upon him is a long one, and asserts that Henry struck him first on the back of the neck and later struck him on and about the face, arms, shoulders, breast and divers other parts of the body, and then threw him into a corner and beat him up with his fists.

Sutton also declares that Henry jabbed the end of the umbrella into the back of his neck and brought the blood, and that he tried to put out his eyes by jabbing it into them. Sutton declares the attack was unprovoked, and says that in it Henry ruined his $50 suit of clothes. The petition was filed by Attorney Frank L. Neufville.

After breakfast the visitors will make a tour of the city and at noon take the boat for Tybee, where they will be the guests of F. W. Armstrong, manager of the Tybee hotel.

J. WYLIE SMITH OUT ON BOND OF $3,000

J. Wylie Smith, held as wrecker of the Commercial Loan and Discount company, and soldier of fortune, who recently returned voluntarily to Atlanta after eluding the law for three years, was released on bond of $3,000 yesterday afternoon.

Smith claims that his health was wrecked by his harrowing experiences and his hardships in Mexico, and that he came back here to die. He is now free from a prison cell and hopes to recuperate in the fresh air and healthful climate.

A date for the trial of Smith under the charge of forgery which was returned against him shortly after his flight has not yet been set. Smith recently stated that by means of important papers which he claims have been found that he intends to free himself from all charges.

FAIR AND WARMER IS PREDICTED FOR TODAY

Fair weather and a rising temperature is again predicted for today. The fact that a storm area is passing over Ohio and adjoining states may possibly cause some cloudiness here, according to Forecaster C. F. von Herrmann, but there should be no rain, and chances are that Atlanta will escape without the clouds.

Temperatures for Monday were back practically to normal. At 7 o'clock in the morning the thermometer on top of the Empire building registered 66 degrees, and at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, which is the hour at which the highest temperature of the day is unusually reached, the mercury rose to 76 degrees.

"COME BACK TO US," SAYS GRIEVED WIFE

Heartbroken Woman Asks The Constitution to Aid Her in Finding C. B. Allen.

If C. B. Allen, who disappeared from his home in Fairburn, Ga., last April 17, sees this story, he will know that his broken-hearted wife and two little babies, who are living in Blackwells, Ga., miss him and long for his return, and yet have faith that he did not willfully desert them.

The following letter to The Constitution tells its own simple and touching story:

"Editor: Please publish a piece in your paper for me, a heart-broken woman with two babies. Just explain it in words as you see best and if the piece you write meets with the eyes of C. B. Allen, who left his home in Fairburn, on April 17, 1913, he will please let his wife, who is heart-broken over his disappearance, know his whereabouts, and relieve her and the two small babies of their great sorrow.

"He loved his family so dearly that I cannot think he left us. I am afraid he has met with foul play.

"Any news of his whereabouts will be gladly received at Marietta, Bell phone No. 2220, or at postoffice address, Blackwells, Ga. Your truly,

"(Signed).

HIT BY ATLANTA MAN ON MOTOR, CRIPPLE WILL DIE

Macon, Ga., May 26.—(Special.)—Ed Green, of Montecello, a cripple, who was being wheeled across Mulberry street, at Spring street, this afternoon, was run down and probably fatally injured by W. J. Radcliff, a young man who has been making Atlanta his home recently, when the latter lost control of his new motorcycle.

In attempting to stop his machine, it is thought Radcliff threw the valve wide open and the motorcycle sprang forward striking the wheel chair in which Green was riding directly in the center. The cripple was thrown out, four of his ribs broken, his right collarbone fractured, his skull fractured and his body badly cut and bruised. He will probably die.

Radcliffe was arrested and held on the charge of violating the city ordinance, pending the outcome of Green's injury.

Green was here on a visit to his sister, Mrs. J. J. Clay, of North Highlands, and is well known to Macon people.

PRESIDENT SOULE BECOMES CITIZEN OF UNITED STATES

Athens, Ga., May 26.—(Special.)—Dr. Andrew McNair Soule, president of the State College of Agriculture, took the oath of allegiance to Uncle Sam and gave up his citizenship to the King of England today in the federal court, which convened this morning, Judge W. T. Newman presiding.

He has been a resident of the United States for nearly twenty years, and is one of the country's most useful and prominent agricultural leaders, but, through circumstances which changed his residence several times just when he was about to perfect the term of residence to become naturalized, he never till this year was in position to become an American citizen.

GRADUATING EXERCISES HELD AT STATE NORMAL

Athens, Ga., May 26.—(Special.)—The commencement at the State Normal was concluded tonight in the graduating exercises when only a few of the seventy-nine members of the senior class took part.

The program was designed to indicate something of the work in several lines done by the class. Misses Ada Jane Nolan, Lula Waters, Katherine Colley, Jessie Reed, Eunice Tabor, Blanch Walters and Susie Tanner, with the Normal School Glee club, rendered several musical numbers, instrumental and vocal solos and chorus work; Miss Kathleen Knox read a paper on "Present Conditions in Georgia Country Schools," Miss Foy Mott a paper on "Social Phases of Education." "The Real Mission of the Country School," was the theme by Miss Eleanor Adams, and the delivery of diplomas and of certificates in the several departments by President Jerre M. Pound concluded the exercises.

This morning at 11:15 President S. C. Mitchell, of the University of South Carolina, Columbia, delivered the annual bacca laureate address.

BIG RECLAMATION PROJECT ON FOOT IN WALTON COUNTY

Monroe, Ga., May 26.—(Special.)—The citizens residing along Jack's creek, near this place, are organizing themselves for the drainage of that stream and for the reclamation of many acres of the finest bottom lands in this section.

Every since the launching of the movement at Haynes' creek, in Gwinnett county, the people here have been much interested, and now many of those affected by the proposed drainage are quite enthusiastic. Mr. Phillips, an engineer in the employ of the United States government, will be here on the first Tuesday in June, when the matter will take definite shape and plans made for the beginning of active operations as soon as possible.

The report that Chief Beavers and other prominent officials and citizens have made sensational statements caught by the Dictograph may or may not be true.

It is true however, and we would not hesitate to say it before all the Dictographs in the universe, that the Southern Engraving Company is turning out engravings the equal of any in America.

ONLY FEW GIRLS FALL BECAUSE OF LOW PAY

So Prof. Taylor, Social Service Worker, Tells Vice Probers.

Chicago, May 26.—Economic conditions or low wages are responsible for not more than 12 per cent of all cases of immorality among girls and women, in the opinion of Professor Graham Taylor, head of Chicago commons social settlement, who was a witness today before the senate vice commission.

"This commission could do no more valuable work than to recommend the abolition of the bar permit to the public dance hall," said Professor Taylor.

F. C. Jones, president of the United States Broom and Brush company, which employs fifty-three women in its factory, told the commission that he thought $7.50 would be a fair minimum wage for women.

Louis F. Swift, president of Swift & Co., and representatives of Armour & Co. and Morris & Co., testified concerning the wages and surroundings of the thousands of foreign girls and women "back of the (stock) yards." said to be the largest foreign settlement on this continent.

Mr. Swift testified that only fourteen of the women employees of the packing houses received the minimum wages. Other witnesses said the foreign women, temperamentally different from American girls, settled the question of morality or immorality for themselves regardless of employer's welfare work.

The average wage of the seven hundred women employed by Swift & Co. is $10.50 a week, according to Mr. Swift.

M. B. Harding, superintendent of the Chicago plant of Armour & Co., said the foreign girls preferred factory work to domestic service.

"The officers of the company cannot persuade these girls to come to their houses to work," he said.

C. L. Charles, assistant superintendent for Morris & Co., said all the big companies spent much money on welfare work, but it was hard to reach the foreign girls.

Professor Graham Taylor, head of "Chicago Commons," a social settlement, speaking before the commission by request, surprised the legislative body by accusing it of being "spectacular, hysterical and sensational." Professor Taylor read statistics to prove that only 12 per cent of vice can be connected with low wages.

"You highbrows have got away from the questions, professor," said Senator Beall, of the vice commission. "We know we are lowbrows here, but we know a thing or two. How can a poor girl with $3.50 a week have as good a chance to be pure as one with $7.50?"

CAPTAIN COOK GIVEN HAT BY OLD VETERANS

As the W. H. T. Walker Camp 925, United Confederate Veterans, were forming in line yesterday morning to march to the railway station to entrain for Chattanooga, Comrade J. H. Shelnutt, a veteran with one leg, stepped to the front and lifting from a table a package, asked the attention of the members of his camp. The package contained a black Alpine hat of military shape. Mr. Shelnutt turned toward Captain J. H. Cook, their commander, saying:

"Simply to show the appreciation of your work in securing funds to take our camp to Chattanooga at this reunion, its members have decided to present you with this token of our esteem."

Captain Cook accepted the gift and ordered his camp to fall in. Thirty minutes later Camp Walker was ready for the advance on Chattanooga, from which the gray-clad men fell back stubbornly and doggedly fifty years ago with Captain Cook in command.

Smallpox at Chapel Hill.

Raleigh, N. C., May 26.—Three smallpox cases at the University of North Carolina, at Chapel Hill, today resulted in an order for compulsory vaccination of the remaining student body. The outbreak is believed to have resulted from athletic trips.

REPORT OF LECTURE BEFORE LAW SCHOOL CORRECTED BY ALSTON

Robert C. Alston has furnished The Constitution with the following statement in regard to a story that appeared on Monday morning:

"Editor Constitution: In your issue of the 26th, your paper purports to quote from a lecture I delivered at the Atlanta law school on interstate commerce two weeks ago. The report is very erroneous. It attributes to me statements which I did not make and sentiments which I do not entertain. The young gentleman who reported the lecture failed to catch its substance and its spirit.

"ROBERT C. ALSTON."

LAW SCHOOL ORATORS WILL COMPETE TODAY

The preliminary hearing of the candidates for the faculty prize in oratory of the Atlanta Law school will be held today before Mrs. William C. Spiker, professor of oratory.

The following students will compete: Harry B. Terrell, Allen Dowda and Leonard J. Grossman, of the senior class, and M. J. Wood, R. E. L. Conn, Dupont Hood, Samuel Castleton, George F. Northern, Pierce Burns, Richard Gordon and Wilhelm A. Hassel, of other classes.

The fastidious taste of some of the seniors this year led to a hot fight for the adoption of dress suits, as the official graduation garb in lieu of the time honored cap and gown. A compromise was reached by adopting a walking cane in addition to the cap and gown. The canes will be of ebony with silver handles, upon which will be engraved a monogram and the Atlanta Law school seal.

REYNOLDS IS CRUSHED BETWEEN TWO CARS

H. L. Reynolds, of 80 Windsor street, an employee of the Southern railway, was injured at the Southern shops last night shortly before midnight by being crushed between two cars.

He was rushed in Patterson's ambulance to the Atlanta hospital, where his condition was reported not to be of a very serious nature. Two ribs are believed to have been broken.

JUDGE JOSEPH R. LAMAR WILL ARRIVE TOMORROW

Judge Joseph R. Lamar, of the United States supreme court, will reach Atlanta tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock and will be met by a committee from the Georgia Bar association, who will escort him to Warm Springs for the meeting there. The session will last two days, and the chief address will be made by Judge Lamar.

The Atlanta lawyers were anxious to entertain him while in Atlanta, but it was found that the would have just about enough time to make train connection, and that after the meeting he would be forced by his work to return to Washington, where the supreme court is expected soon to pass down a decision in the Minnesota rate case, which is of extreme interest to all the railroad interests, bringing new elements into the rate situation.

Judge Pardee and Mrs. Pardee will leave for Warm Springs on the same train with Judge Lamar. Judge Andrew J. Cobb, of Athens, is president of the Georgia Bar association and Judge Owens, of Savannah, first vice president, and Orville Park, secretary.

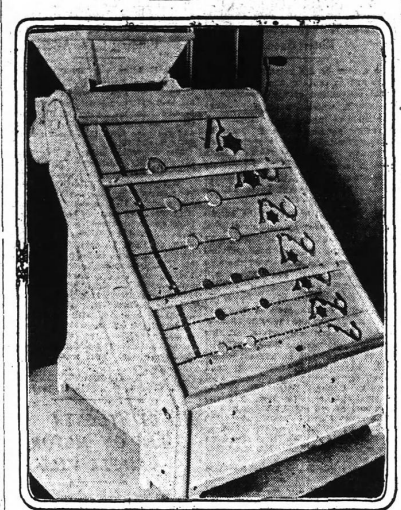
D. Flynn, and J. D. Flynn, and three sisters, Mrs. L. C. Beeland, Mrs. B. C. Campbell, of Atlanta, and Mrs. William Haygood, of LaGrange, Ga. Coin Assorter Is Invented By Atlanta Business Man



The coins are poured pell-mell into the hopper at the top, and as the crank is turned the chains of various size move from the left to the right. The silver dollars stop at the top chain, while everything else falls through. The half-dollars stop at the second chain, the quarters at the third, the nickles at the fourth, the pennies at the next, while the dimes drop all the way to the bottom. The chains carry the coins to the right of the machine where they drop into pockets for the separate denominations. The machine is made of aluminum and brass and when manufacured in numbers will weigh only 15 or 20 pounds.

Wonderful progress in the saving of human time and labor is attained by a new invention that has just this week been completed by an Atlanta man. It is a coin assorter—the first machine of its kind ever invented. Taking a handful of coins, or a bucketful, the invention acts with what seems almost human thought, and divides the entire amount within a very few seconds into piles of various coins. In addition to this it counts every coin that goes through. Thus in a very few moments it does the work that many a tired bank clerk pores over for hours, proving indeed an invaluable acquisition for the banking and commercial houses.

Ed Haralson—an Atlanta business man known to hundreds of people here, but little suspected of being an inventor—is the man who has made this remarkable machine. He is a son of M. Harralson, the well-known real estate man of Atlanta, and he has lived in this section nearly all his life. Three years ago, when he was agent for the Wales adding machine in Atlanta, the idea first came to him, through his familiarity with adding machines and cash registers, that a machine could in some way be worked out which would assort coins accurately.

He experimented on various theories for two years and a half before he finally struck the endless chain idea—each link of the chain having a little projection just far enough from the next one to let a coin of a certain size slip through, stopping at the chain jus: below.

Six months ago Mr. Harralson gave up the agency he then had in Memphis to return to Atlanta and devote his entire time to the invention. He installed a workshop at 773 Marietta street, and for times has had as many as six mechanics working on the various parts of the machine. He has at last evolved the completed invention, and the working model has been shown to a few Atlantans for the first time during the past week. Patent has been applied for and allowed, and will be taken out within a week or two. A company will probably be formed, with Atlanta capital backing it, to manufacture the machines in this city as a distinct "Atlanta-made" product, and it is believed that a great future lies ahead of the invention in revolutionizing methods in banks and business institutions.

R. K. Attling.

R. K. Attling, aged 61, died Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock at his residence at Brown's mill. He is survived by his wife and seven children: D. W., J. F., S. T. and R. O. Attling, Mrs. F. Lynn, of Egan Park; Mrs. W. L. Hinton, of Lakewood Heights, and Miss Bella Appling. Funeral Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock at Mt. Zion church.

WITH THE THEATERS

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.

Maggie Cline, billed as the Irish queen, and owning to some seventy years, is the feature of the bill at the Forsyth this week.

Miss Cline is to vaudeville what Sarah Bernhardt is to the legitimate. Year in and year out she has shown little change in looks or in ability. Her circle of friends has widened—that's the only result of the years.

Dancing, well just a little, anyway, singing all the time, and jollying the orchestra (she's great at that), her work always pleases a big part of the people in front.

The Great Howard was both fortunate and unfortunate in the afternoon show. He was minus his baggage owing to the railway error, but decided to go on anyway.

"I'll do something, Hugh," he told Manager Cardoza, and the way he "got" the audience showed that he is clever in other lines of stage work as well as the ventriloquist. He played on several instruments, including a paino, banjo and drum and wound up with the "bones," and he certainly can get music out of the sticks. Many years ago, when I was an amateur, I used to be an end man," is the explanation he made to a friend after the show was over. At the night show he did his regular act. It was a big hit.

There is one thing certain this week, and that is that people will stay to see the last act, for although acrobats are not usually drawing cards here, the two men who wind up the show, the Equiti brothers, are about the best old-timers can remember. Perhaps their most remarkable feat is that of climbing a ladder with one brother balanced on the head of the climber.

Madden and Fitzpatrick, a couple of fine entertainers who were here several years ago, are back again with a new act, every bit as good as the old. It gives opportunity for a song that appeals, some skillful piano playing, and offers both comedy and pathos.

Caesar Nesi, booked as the "Caruso of New York's east side," has a great voice, and drew several encores at the afternoon show. Carl Rosine and company open with a neat magic act, and Kirk and Fogarty are good in songs and chatter.

Terrell Superior Court.

Dawson, Ga., May 26.—(Special.)—Terrell superior court convened in regular session this morning, with Judge W. C. Worrill presiding, and Solicitor Castellow representing the state. All civil cases on issue docket were disposed of today. Business goes over to next Monday. Unless the present grand jury return many bills, next week's session will also be short.

Fred Beers on Vacation.

Fred Beers, deputy clerk of the United States court, in charge of the bankruptcy division, accompanied by Mrs. Beers and Fred Beers, Jr., will leave Atlanta tonight for a trip to Florida points, and will be away for two weeks. This is Mr. Beers' first vacation for several years, and he expects to visit every place of interest from Tampa to Key West.

SERVIA AND BULGARIA ON THE VERGE OF WAR

Having Conquered Turkey, Balkan Allies Prepare to Fight One Another.

Sofia, May 2'.—The Servians' demand for revision of the treaty alliance in its essential parts amounts to abrogation, according to the semi-official Mir. It is understood that Russia, supported by the other powers, will do everything possible to prevent a conflict between the allies.

It is expected the Bulgarian cabinet will flatly refuse the Servian demand and insist upon strict compliance with the treaty. Sofia, and other troops are massed near Sofia, and othe troops are being hurried forward in Macedonia.

Great Britain Supports Bulgaria.

London, May 27.—A correspondent of The Chronicle is informed on high authority that Bulgaria will have the support of Great Britain, but at the present moment it is uncertain what course France and Russia will take. Russia is opposed to the breaking up of the Balkan league, but unless asked to do so by both Servia and Bulgaria, will not likely act as mediator. It is believed Servia, relying on the support of Greece, intends to keep all districts occupied in Macedonia.

Sheriff Comes for Negro.

Sheriff R. E. Goddard, of Blount county, one of the best-known officials in Tennessee, came to Atlanta yesterday to get Addie Smith, a negro wanted in Tennesseee for larceny. The Smith negro refused to return without requisition papers, so it will be several days before Mr. Goddard can take him back. While in the city Mr. Goddard met Chief Beavers, and the two had quite a pleasant time together.

Court Opens in Rome.

The United States district court for the eastern division of the northern district of Georgia convened yesterday morning in Athens with an unusually large calendar. Judge Newman, accompanied by United States District Attorney Carter Tate, Assistant District Attorney Henley, Marshal Johnson and Clerk Hart, deputy, Captain Rinhard and Deputy Clerk John Dean Steward, left Atlanta Sunday night to get ready for the opening of he session.

Mrs. Camilla W. Callaway.

Mrs. Camilla Willingham Callaway, wife of R. M. Callaway, aged 37, died Sunday night at the residence, 302 Ponce de Leon avenue. She is survived by her husband, one daughter, Miss Marcella Callaway, three sons, Rex, R. F. and A. V. Callaway, and one sister, Mrs. W. H. Pinson. The funeral will be at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon from the residence. Rev. A. M. Hughlett officiating. Interment will be in West View.

He Threatened Wilson.

Philadelphia, May 26.—Richard Lindsay, said to be from Chicago, is under arrest here on a charge of sending threatening letters to President Wilson. He will be examined as to his sanity. Lindsay, it was charged by secret service operatives, wrote letters to the president demanding $300,000 damages for an alleged assault upon him in Chicago by a man whom he called Maxwell.

Four Bankruptcy Petitions.

Four voluntary petitions in bankruptcy were filed yesterday with Deputy Clerk Beers, of the federal court. Charles M. White, jr., of Atlanta, a bookkeeper, gives his liabilities at $387.30, with $75 in assets. Michael M. Fox, a peddler and installment merchant, presents $1,873 as his obligations, with $815 as his assets. John Addison Barwick, a bookkeeper, declares his liabilities will reach $2,080.21, with $200 in assets. William S. Barwick's papers say that he is a clerk and that he has liabilities amounting to $1,081.30, with no assets.

MOST men are alike—in appearance. Each has a head, two arms and two legs. But, there resemblance ends.

Some of them think.

And the thinkers are the successes. They are the doers of deeds. They realize that to rest is to rust. They are forever seeking new ways and better ways. They are forever making two sales where the failure makes only one. You'll find these thinkers are alive to the value of advertising.

They don't act like the girl that threw her lover a kiss in the dark. She knew what she was doing, but the other party didn't. No, sir, these men that think let folks know they're alive. They back up their ads with the goods and leave nothing undone to please customers.

You'll find these thinkers use The Constitution. The deeper they think the more frequently their ads appear in this paper. They appreciate the value of a newspaper read by progressive people at the breakfast table.

To which class do you belong? So? Well, there is nothing but your apathy that prevents you from walking in the ranks with the successes. We're possessed of the idea that you have the gray matter in your head just like others. The thing for you to do is to use it. In other words, think.

Fight Between Mayor and Council May Bankrupt Griffin Treasury

Griffin, Ga., May 26.—(Special.)—The final chapter in the long fight between Mayor J. H. Smith and the Griffin city council over the purchase of an auto fire truck will be written Tuesday night in council meeting when a vote will be made to pay the American-LaFrance company the sum of $5,800 for a fire truck purchased over the strong protest of the mayor and the complaints of citizens. The truck is in the city on trial, and the formal acceptance will be completed and payment made Tuesday night.

The conflict between the mayor and council began some months ago when, in regular session, a resolution was passed directing the mayor and clerk to immediately sign a contract with the American-LaFrance Fire Engine company for a specified truck. The contract was in hand at that time and was offered the mayor.

Inasmuch as the affair had not been considered before, Mayor Smith, who is a banker, urged that further investigation be made and that a committee be appointed to look at other trucks and to receive other bids. The mayor was overruled. Appealing to the city attorney for advice, he was instructed that the proposed purchase and its manner of payment was illegal. The mayor refused to sign the contract.

Take Authority From Mayor.

Council then voted to rescind their former action, and then passed an ordinance placing into the hands of a committee the authority to sign contracts for the city, and enacted that such contracts be signed by said committee were binding. A further enactment was then made directing the committee to sign a contract with the American-LaFrance company for a sum of $5,800 for the truck that the mayor refused to consider, stipulating that the machine should be paid for in installments. The contract was then put through.

Mayor Smith being relieved of the responsibility of the contract, and having everything taken out of his hands, came back good and strong and served notice on the councilmen and the American-LaFrance company that he would enjoin the delivery of the truck and that he would not sign checks to pay for it.

The puzzle was then up to council to provide money to pay cash for the machine, or acknowledge themselves defeated. Equal to the situation, council then voted that $4,000 preiously voted to the light and sewerage commission for the purpose of extending water mains and lights should be recalled to the treasury. By this means sufficient funds would then be in hand to make cash payment upon the delivery of the machine.

May Bankrupt Treasury.

The situation now develops, and one that greatly concerns the taxpayers, that if a cash payment is made the city treasury will be bankrupted of funds and the light and water extensions will be brought to a standstill, while the bonded obligations of the city that will fall due in a short time will be met.

A perplexing phase of the affair is the admission on the part of some of the councilmen that they, while being entertained at a banquet given them in Atlanta by the American-LaFrance company, virtually pledged themselves to buy this machine from that company.

STAGGERS THROUGH DOCTOR'S DOORWAY AND DROPS DEAD

Savannah, Ga., May 26.—(Special.)—After ringing Dr. George W. Herlot's doorbell today, staggering into the hallway and calling out to the doctor that he had a pain in his chest, something like congestion of the lungs, he thought, Joseph E. Scoville dropped dead before the doctor could reach his side.

Heart failure was the cause of death, said Dr. Herlot. Mr. Scoville had been in Savannah for several months, and was well known. His wife is supposed to be in Leland, Fla., from which place Mr. Scoville came to Savannah.

He is a native of Syracuse, N. Y., where he has a son and a daughter.

FELTON WON'T ACT AS NAVAL STORES RECEIVER

Macon, Ga., May 26.—(Special.)—Judge W. H. Felton, of Macon, has declined to serve as one of the receivers for the Yaryan Naval stores company, with plants at Brunswick, Ga., and Gulfport, Miss.

He states that his duties as head of the public utilities companies in Macon, controlled by the Leach financial interests, makes it impossible for him to devote the time that would be required of the receiver.

Judge Speer last Saturday named Judge Felton, James S. Bralley and Homer T. Yaryan as co-receivers for the $5,000,000 naval stores corporation. Bond of $10,000 is required of each receiver.

Judge Speer is spending the week at St. Simon's island, and the attorneys who brought the action are out of the city, so it is impossible to learn who will take Judge Felton's place.

FATALLY INJURED WHILE TRYING TO CATCH A TRAIN

Woodland, Ga., May 26.—(Special.)—J. L. Gault, a young white man, about 21 years old, was run over by a A., B. & A. freight train here yesterday about sundown and died from injuries received early this mirning.

Young Gault tried to catch a freight train going fifteen miles per hour, and was thrown under the train; his right leg being completely severed above the knee and his other leg broken and badly bruised. A large crowd was on the streets at the time and saw the accident, among them Dr. J. E. Peeler, who immediately gave the injured man medical attention. He was put on a freight train and rushed to Manchester. He died at 2 o'clock a. m.

Young Gault was reared at Canton and was a son of Jabez Gault, a prominent and wealthy citizen of that place. He had recently left Mercer university, which he attended for some time, and had moved to this place and gone to work for the railroad.

One year from the day that Gault was killed, and about the same hour of the day, a negro was killed in the same manner and near the same place.

DELAY OF A DAY IN TALLULAH CASE

Absent Witnesses Cause Postponement — Attorneys for State Have Disagreement as to Longer Postponement.

By J. Walter LeCraw, Staff Correspondent.

Clayton, Ga., May 26.—(Special.)—There was disappointment in store for a courtroom crowded close with lawyers, capitalists, witnesses, and hundreds of other people interested in the famous Tallulah Falls land suit, when the hearing was postponed for a day when being called today in the Rabun county superior court.

Having been set for 2 o'clock today, the courtroom was filled to overflowing when the time came for the hearing to open. Gathered at the table before the bench were Attorney General T. S. Felder, Edgar Watkins and R. C. Ellis, representing the state of Georgia in the case, while Alex King, Luther Z. Rosser, Charles T. Hopkins and C. C. Dean represented the Georgia Railway and Power company, defendant in the suit.

Everything was in readiness for the hearing except the fact that three of the important witnesses for the state were absent, two of them being declared to be ill in Tallulah Falls. Judge J. B. Jones, who is to conduct the hearing, listened to the statements of the attorney general as to the importance of the testimony of the three witnesses, and finally ordered a postponement of the hearing until Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

Ellis Springs a Surprise.

R. C. Ellis, the Tifton lawyer, who is on the special committee appointed to represent the Tallulah Falls Conservation association in the hearing, sprung the sensation of the afternoon by rising a few minutes after the court had gathered to ask that the entire case be postponed till the August term of the Rabun court, in order that the conservation association might prepare other important evidence in the case.

Attorney General Felder had stated barely a moment before that the state was ready to proceed with its case, if arrangements could be made to get the testimony of the three absent witnesses. When Mr. Ellis unexpectedly made his request, Mr. Felder jumped from his seat in a moment.

"Judge, I must confess that this is a surprise to me," he said. "I thought that Mr. Ellis and I were working in harmony in this case, and thought it was understood in our conference a few minutes ago that we wanted to proceed with it without any delay.

"The work at Tallulah has progressed at a rapid rate, and there is a possibility of the water being turned into the tunnel within the next two months. We are therefore especially anxious that the case proceed at once, so that a decision may be reached just at the earliest possible moment."

Request Is Withdrawn.

Mr. Ellis, after a few moments of conference then with the attorney general, withdrew his request for a postponement, saying that the following day would be satisfactory for the opening of the case. Since this was also suitable to the attorneys for the power company, Judge Jones gave orders for the issuing of attachments to the three absent witnesses, and the reconvening of court the following morning.

J. A. Taylor, postmaster of Tallulah Falls, and Caleb Woodall and Wyley Pitts, also of Tallulah, are the three witnesses whose absence delayed the case. Their testimony concerns the exact position of the ground at Tallulah Falls, and the land corners of the property in question.

Clayton will, therefore, be the host for several days to come for the hundred or more people who have gathered here for the hearing. All the hotels of the town are filled to overflowing.

Switch Engine Brings Party.

A party of prominent Atlanta men were so anxious to get to Clayton in time for the convening of court Monday morning that they secured a switch engine of the Tallulah Falls railway to bring them on a special trip from the Falls to Clayton this morning.

Preston Arkwright, president of the Georgia Railway and Power company, was one of those who sat on a plank on top of the coal tender of the engine and gloated over the scenic beauties of Rabun county on this unique trip.

Charles T. Hopkins and Luther Z. Rosser, who are among the power company's lawyers, sat on either side of Mr. Arkwright, and took good care to see that he did not fall off. Alex C. King, who is also with the power company counsel, and Milt Saul, of the publicity department of the company, also took the ride on the engine. The party had come up from Atlanta on Sunday and stopped over at the Falls to look over the works, Clayton being only 14 miles farther north than the Falls.

Demurrers Not to Stop Case.

The demurrers which have been filed by each side in the suit will not stop the hearing of the evidence in the case, according to the belief of attorneys connected with both sides. The power company has filed a demurrer, asking that the suit be thrown out of court, on the ground that the original petition for the suit did not show sufficient evidence to prove that the deeds given by the state in 1813 and 1819 conveyed the land only to the top of the gorge.

The state has also filed demurrer to the answer of the power company to the petition, and when the case is formally called Tuesday morning these will probably be argued for a few moments by the lawyers, but it is generally accepted that the case is to proceed to a thorough hearing, which will probably consume at least three or four days.

WEST VIRGINIA PROBE ATTACKED BY BACON

Washington, May 26.—The resolution for an investigation of conditions in the West Virginia coal strike zone was favorably reported to the senate today by the education and labor committee, and was declared by Vice President Marshall to have been agreed to by unanimous consent, but wound up by again becoming the unfinished business, a position it occupied two weeks ago. It will come before the senate automatically at the conclusion of the morrow morning's business, and the vote ordered today probably will be taken before adjournment.

Although Senator Bacon made a vigorous attack upon investigation of the conduct of state officials by the senate, and warned against such an "invasion" of state rights, Senator Goff announced that he did not intend to fight further against its adoption, and it was generally agreed that it would be passed.

WRIGHT TO ADDRESS MACON MASS MEETING

Macon, Ga., May 26.—(Special.)—Announcement is made by the Macon Ministerial association that Hon. Seaborn Wright, of Rome, will address a mass meeting in Macon at the city Auditorium next Sunday afternoon.

Judge W. A. Covington, of Moultrie, had originally been selected as the speaker, but twice it has been found necessary to postpone the meeting on account of his inability to attend, and finally it was decided to secure another speaker to make the address.

Mr. Wright's talk will have to do with law enforcement in general, and the prohibition law in particular, as it now exists in Macon.

Bedingfield to Go on Trial.

Macon, Ga., May 26.—(Special.)—Mallory Bedingfield, who last fall shot and dangerously wounded F. A. Guttenberger, the Macon music dealer, for the latter was walking with his wife from his garage to the back door of his house, will go to trial in the superior court Wednesday on the charge of shooting with intent to murder.

Bedingfield claims that a short time previous to the shooting he had heard a disturbance among his ducks, and thinking some one was trying to steal them, he secured his pistol and went to investigate. When he reached the back door he saw two forms moving through the Guttenberg backyard and opened fire. He shot Mr. Guttenberger through the breast, thinking he was a thief making way with some of his ducks.

Roberson, who has been re-elected for next year with an increase in his salary.

Pure Beer Will Not make You Bilious

We go to Bohemia for hops; one of our partners selects the barley; water is brought from rock 1400 feet under the ground.

Not only is Schlitz—every drop of it—filtered through white wood pulp, but even the air in which it is cooled is filtered.

Before it is offered to you it is aged for months in glass enameled tanks. It will not, it cannot cause biliousness. It will not ferment in your stomach.

Light starts decay even in pure beer. Dark glass gives the best protection against light. The Brown Bottle protects Schlitz purity from the brewery to your glass.

More and more people every year are demanding Schlitz. Why don't you demand this pure beer?

Did you ever stop long enough to apply the law of supply and demand to PEACHTREE RESIDENCE PROPERTY?

It probably has occurred to you that Peachtree central and semi-central property has advanced up into the thousands per front foot because the SUPPLY of it is LIMITED.

A moment's thought will convince you that the same is true of Peachtree residence property; there is just so much of it and there can NEVER be any more.

And when supply is permanently limited, it follows by well-known law, that GROWING VALUE MUST RESPOND TO GROWING DEMAND.

Atlanta is growing at the rate of 15,000 new population every year.

We are getting to the answer.

By just the percentage that Atlanta increases in population each year, by just that percentage grows the DEMAND FOR PEACHTREE HOMES.

And market value grows in even greater proportion. Current sales compared to prices of a few years back readily establish the truth of this assertion.

The answer is this:

If you want one of the prettiest home lots in Atlanta, in the HIGHEST CLASS RESIDENCE SECTION the city offers, and—

At ROCK BOTTOM PRICE and on attractive terms—

Peachtree Heights Park

Go and look at this property—see for yourself—see the natural beauty of it, the well paved roads and drive ways, the parks, the many home advantages it offers, then—

AN ETERNAL DEBT.

Increasing bank clearings and the steady tramp of the great armies of development will not diminish the south's appreciation for that other army—the thinned and tattered and grizzled army of the sixties—that is gathering today in Chattanooga to celebrate the memories of the most gigantic civil war i.. the world's history. Sentiment and the elements of the dramatic and the tragic call powerfully to the emotions as we witness the reassembling of these old men valiant, who, to quote scripture, are "they which have come out of great tribulation."

But when sentiment, sweet and fragrant though it be, and emotion, tender and impelling, have exhausted their influence, there remains the most binding of all obligations—the obligation of gratitude.

For these crippled and failing men who today meet under the shadow of Lookout are the ancestors of the new south and of the new America. The blood spilled by them and by the larger host of them that already have crossed the river has made possible the south of our time, has made possible the nation of our day, the nation that stands foursquare and united to the world.

It is fitting that we pay tribute to the valor of those who laid down their lives for the Confederacy, as well as to the survivors. They gave all that they possessed in the defense of a cause which to them was sacred and all-compelling. They demonstrated American courage and sacrifice as it had never been demonstrated on land or sea. But we owe an equal tribute to those of them who came home, ragged and hungry, and thin and weak, from stricken battlefields and took up the work of rehabilitating an entire section.

We are today the heirs of these men. They faced chaos, the need of re-establishing government with every ancient institution overturned; the need of making brick without straw; of building stability of rule and firmness of prosperity confronted by such adverse conditions as have never before plagued a conquered people.

The progress and development we now enjoy has really been created by the survivors of the civil war. So that we are under obligations to them in a substantial, none less than a sentimental sense. And for the reconciliation and the amity that have finally welded America into a reunited nation, the courage and the breadth of these men also are responsible.

It is a many-sided, an eternal debt the south owes these gray old men now meeting in historic Chattanooga.

LIBELING PUBLIC MEN.

President Roosevelt's suit for libel against the Michigan editor is chiefly important as marking the cumulative tendency on part of public men to hold the press to a sharp accountability for unfounded personal utterances. Recent proposals to establish a press censorship and similar developments all contribute to the same tendency. Here and there less scrupulous newspapers have, in the heat of partisan controversy, mistaken liberty for license. They have fallen into the pernicious habit of printing, without proof, charges involving personal character, exaggerating, vilifying and denouncing. In other words, living in the age of the muckraker, they have been infected by the contagion of the muckraker.

All this is an inevitable accompaniment of a free press and a free government. Newspaper owners and editors work under and serve as high a standard of ethics as any other profession. But there are always to be found rabid or irresponsible individuals who abuse their rights and pervert their functions. By no part of the population is the character-assassin more thoroughly discredited and repudiated than by the overwhelming percentage of the honest followers of his own calling.

Since no man in his senses would seriously propose to abridge the rights of the press because of a few casual infringements, the next best remedy is that which Roosevelt has chosen. Whatever the issue in his individual case, existence will be made more bearable for the public man and his family if notice is served that reckless and perverted attacks upon private character can not go unchallenged.

WHAT ABOUT THE "CROPPER?"

Within a very few years the farmers of the United States will no doubt be able to command credit upon their acres at a lower rate of interest than at any previous time in American history. This is foreshadowed by the enormous governmental and private activity looking to the simplification of rural credits. Specifically, two current developments are significant. One is the proposal to incorporate in the new currency bill a provision empowering national banks to accept farm mortgages as collateral. Another is the report from Rome that the federal commission now in Europe studying rural credits on behalf of this government is making rapid headway. It is, therefore, inevitable that sooner or later the anomaly that at present prevails of the farmer, the support of the country, being compelled to pay a higher rate of interest than any other element will be rectified. Relief is likely to come through rural co-operative credit societies as well as through the broadened lending capacity of national banks.

But it will be a mistake for the farmer to assume that the placing at his disposal facilities for better credit will be sufficient to remove all of his difficulties. The Constitution, for instance, has recently devoted a great deal of space toward demonstrating the dangers and loss of the all-cotton crop system in this state. ..enjamin W. Hunt, former president of the Georgia State Bankers' association and other financiers of like conservatism, have pointed out that unless diversification takes the place of this wrong-headed method, the state will suffer. Cheaper credit will have a tendency to encourage diversification, since it will place at the disposal of the man who owns his acres ready means for emancipation. But what about the tenant, the "cropper" who is so dominant a part in our agricultural system?

It is hardly to be expected that the "cropper" will be better off, or his dependence upon the banker, the merchant or the landlord any less binding than under the present system. If the banker, the merchant and the landlord continue to exact that the return for credit or for rent shall be altogether in cotton—all the cheap credit in the world will not improve the lot of the "cropper" or the condition of the agricultural system of which he is so large a part. And cheap credit will not help even the man who owns his acres, unless he is convinced as to the folly of single-shotting on cotton and sincerely desires emancipation.

All of which is cited not to disparage rural credits; on the other hand, The Constitution is an enthusiastic advocate of the movement to introduce this system. But if we are to effect a revolutionary change in our prevailing agricultural method—a method that yearly strips the profits of a single crop and sends them out of the state to pay for food that should be raised within the state—the change must come through convincing every man who has to do with farming in Georgia that the right way is the diversification way. Farm credits and other devices will be helpful auxiliaries. But the remedy must come through the man, not through any single automatic panacea.

ANOTHER CANAL.

Dr. Salvador Castrillo, retiring minister from Nicaragua, is confident that the United States eventually will build another transcontinental canal and this time across his country.

Who knows?

To this day there is doubt in the minds of many people as to the relative feasibility of the Nicaragua and Panama routes. John T. Morgan, the illustrious Alabama senator, whose labors probably made a canal of any sort possible, died in the conviction that the United States made a fatal mistake in committing itself to the Panama, rather than the Nicaragua route.

It is claimed, and probably with reason, that the route between our Atlantic and Pacific forts can be shortened nearly 2,000 miles by the Nicaragua route. Dr. Castrillo advances this as an argument for a supplementary canal. He also says, with some truth, that the day may come when increasing traffic will so glut the Panama canal as to make profitable the opening up of the Nicaragua route. At least, he has impressed Mr. Bryan with his presentation of the case, and the secretary is described as in a "receptive" frame of mind.

The Washington Post notes that New Jersey "has a lobster colony." Of course, it will not have the temerity to ask the administration for office.

Secretary Bryan will never enter suit against an editor for accusing him of the grape juice habit.

The high cost of living will make many immune from the vacation fever.

The dictagraph is little, but as lively as a nest of hornets.

When Summer Comes to See Us.

When Summer comes to see us, you bet
we're all at home:
Down by the river's the place we love to roam;
Through pathways of daisies—that's the way we go,
And listen to the river's song because we love it so.

(Welcome the season
When earth's amazing bright,
And the Promised Land of Plenty
Is dawning on our sight.)

When Summer comes to see us, though toiling still is best,
There's still a big majority to seek the vales of Rest;
Down by the river, where the fish are
bitin' free,
Or at a game of checkers 'neath the old mulberry tree.

Welcome the season;
Folks that sow will reap,
But we'd rather hear the south wind
A-singin' us to sleep.

The Meeting of the Veterans.

Today the veterans of the gray meet in Chattanooga—
"Once more the flags have their rippled, red way
Over the brave hearts that beat 'neath the gray;—
Once more the drum
Thrills the message: 'They come!'
And the silver-sweet bugles in melody play."

The "thin, gray line" will have heartiest welcome there, as everywhere, and the camp fires will twinkle on the battlefields they knew, while cups clink healths to them on all sides.

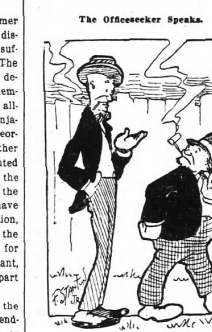
The Officeseeker Speaks.



I.

"Don't you go to Washington," the officeseeker said;
"You bet I won't," the farmer cried. "The fields—they give me bread;
Jes' let 'em take the offices an' fill 'em, fur an' nigh;
I hear the green fields singin' of the good times by an' by."

II.

"There's nothin' much, I tell you, in that officeseekin' place:
The open door you hear about is slammed right in your face."
"I know it," said the farmer: "I see the green fields shine; I'll take Jes' twenty acres of the old home-place for mine."

III.

That's what builds up the country, no matter what be said—
The pathways where the toilers in the old home-meadows tread;
We've got to play with politics, but when the play is done
We come back to the old place where the green fields fall the sun.

With a Difference.

"The other day," says The Adams Enterprise, "Mr. Bryan drank a toast to himself in plain ice water. The ice trust makes ice impossible in this neighborhood, but you just lower a gallon jug in a 60-foot well, and corn licker comes up so cool you can drink a health to the whole country and afterwards smack your mouth so loud that they can almost hear you and shout 'Amen' to the farthest limits of town."

The World's Song.

I.

Still the world is singing
As fast goes Time and Tide:
"I am ever turning
To the brighter side.

II.

"Toil in the cities
And where the fields you view:
The bright heaven above you
And the green earth for you!"

The Determined Cyclone.

"I shut de door on de cyclone," said Brother Williams, "but he'd done made up his mind ter come in, so he took de roof off, an' carried de chimbly away fer good measure; then he turned 'roun' an' took de two big sides of de house off, and whilst I wuz prayin' ter de Lawd ter please deliver, he landed me in de top of a oak tree, theh took me an' de tree so fur dat I had trouble in findin' de way back home. Brotherin', when Satan is ridin' de cyclone it's no use ter lock de door on him, fer he'll only make it wuss fer you when he blows de roof off."

New News of Yesterday

The Virginian Who Was True to His Constituents.

By E. J. EDWARDS.

(Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.)

The late Benjamin Douglas Silliman, who was for several years before his death, in 1899, the oldest active practicing lawyer in the country, must have been about 90 years of age when I had a most entertaining conversation with him. Mr. Silliman was born in 1805; he was 94 years of age at the time of his death. For many years he was the oldest living graduate of Yale college. At 90 Mr. Silliman's mental faculties seemed to be unimpaired; certainly he talked with great vividness of men and events of which he had knowledge during his active career at the bar of nearly seventy years, and also when prominent in politics in the days when the whig party was increasing in strength, until at last it won the presidential victory in 1840.

I had heard that Mr. Silliman was a delegate to the whig convention of 1839, at which William Henry Harrison, of Ohio, was nominated for president, and John Tyler, of Virginia, for vice president. I asked Mr. Silliman if it were true that the nomination of vice president had been offered to several distinguished whigs and declined by them until at last it was offered to John Tyler, a Virginia whig, who accepted.

E. J. Edwards.

"That is faithful history," Mr. Silliman said. "I am a good witness to the truth of the statement because I have personal knowledge of the facts.

"As a young man, I took great interest in the movements which, after 1836, were so concentrated as to create the great national whig party. I was a strong believer in the protective policy advocated by Henry Clay. I was also a very great admirer of Mr. Clay. I presume it was for that reason that I was elected a delegate from one of the New York state districts to the whig convention that was held at Harrisburg in the late fall of 1839, about a year before the presidential election.

"That was a momentous gathering. There were many young men present who afterwards gained national reputations. It was at this convention that the west rather than the states of the Atlantic coast became the dominant factor in American presidential politics.

"Mr. Clay, whose state was Kentucky, was regarded as a southern man. The splendid growth of the country north of the Ohio river and west of the Allegheny mountains had made it possible for the states and territories to concentrate very great creative strength at the Harrisburg convention. That strength was demonstrated when William Henry Harrison was nominated for president instead of Henry Clay.

"I remember that after inquiring among the delegations from the various states it was decided that the best man to put in nomination for vice president was Benjamin Watkins Leigh, of Virginia. It is my recollection that Mr. Leigh himself knew nothing about this, but I can recall with what manly dignity he rose on the floor of the convention when his name was proposed and said that, as he was elected as a delegate to support the nomination of Henry Clay for president, his constituents might regard it as a betrayal of his trust if he should accept a nomination for vice president after Henry Clay had been defeated for the presidential nomination. The whole convention was visibly affected by Mr. Leigh's presence, and by his brief statement. I only wish that he had accepted; he was one of the noblest of men, a staunch whig and a true patriot. He was a man of very great statesmanship qualities. He should have had a great president had he succeeded to the presidency after the death of President Harrison.

"Delegates came to me and asked me if I would support the nomination of Senator Nathaniel Tallmadge, of New York. I said that Senator Tallmadge was a good man and a strong man, but that he, too, was a Henry Clay whig, and I was sure he would decline the offer of the nomination. That was exactly what he did. I learned, too, that the offer was made to Samuel L. Southard, of New Jersey, who declined it, and then the delegates being a good deal discomfited by these repeated declinations, the nomination was offered to John Tyler, of Virginia, who accepted it without hesitation.

"I look back to that convention of the whig party at Harrisburg as one of the most valuable of the experiences of my life. I learned more of politics of the better kind when I was at that convention than I had before learned in all my life.

"I can only say again that I wish Mr. Leigh, of Virginia, had been nominated for vice president instead of John Tyler. I think if he had been chosen the whig party would have been victorious at the presidential election of 1844."

A PUBLIC DEFENDER.

By Philip Weltner, Secretary Prison Association of Georgia.

The tricks of the advocate have largely obscured the true purpose of a trial at law. It has come to be a battle of wits. In the melee, the contestants and the state lose sight of the accused. He sits in the dock, lost to its meaning, confused and afraid. He has paid a lawyer to conceal the truth to set him free. The solicitor is fighting to secure a conviction. Of the wearying grind, of the farcical solemnity of formal oaths, and technical points, he stands in awe-struck ignorance. Now and then, utterly dazed by the muddled tangle, he anxiously scans the faces of the judge and jury to catch, if he can, some sign of hope. It is a knock-down-and-drag-out fight between his lawyer and the state's. When the trial is done, if he is acquitted, the crowd congratulates his lawyer. If he is convicted, they congratulate the solicitor. If he thinks at all, this must strike him as incongruous as those of kin congratulating an undertaker upon skillfully embalming the corpse.

Everybody knows this is true. Some have taken pains to discover a remedy. A few suggest a public defender. These last propose to offset the faults of the system by furnishing the accused with counsel as keen as that employed by the state. By so doing they think to minimize the danger of a miscarriage of justice. No one would for a moment attack the sincerity of those who advocate this plan, but its very advocates must admit that it is hardly more than a faint-hearted compromise. Why perpetuate in this manner a system immoral to its core? Why tolerate the debauch of justice into two contending camps, vieing with each other in vainglorious fashion, when the thing really at stake is an immortal soul?

Upon the solicitor rests the burden of bringing to light the truth. He is, in theory, as much of counsel for the accused as for the state. In fact, first principles teach us that a criminal case does not sound in the name of the State v. John Doe, but in the name of the State for John Doe. The state is a sovereign authority ordering the good of all her subjects. If some have offended, the state must take them into its custody, but only for the purpose of making them over into worthy citizens.

Those who put their trust in the expedient of a public defender would in effect, if not in intention, fix upon the state the unholy scramble of loading crimes on cowering human pawns. Criminal courts must cease to seek the truth to damn the convicted. Measures of compromise will fail. Here is no resting place. We must fight on until there is wiped off the pages of our criminal jurisprudence the legend, "Abandon all hope, ye who enter here;" and there is written in its stead, "The truth shall make you free."

Our laws must be written to lift fallen humanity, and not chain men to sure doom. When that is done, the law, written in righteousness, will be righteously administered.

The World's Mysteries

WHENCE CAME THE WORD "YANKEE?"

The origin of the word "Yankee," which is generally applied to people living in the New England states, and which is frequently used by the south to designate the north, has created considerable controversy. It is believed to have been derived from the manner in which the Indians endeavored to pronounce the word "English," which they rendered "Yenghees," whence the word "Yankee."

The statement in Irving's "Knickerbocker's History of New York," concerning the tribe of Yankoos, is a mere joke; and another suggestion that the Yankoos were so indomitable that the Puritans of New England, after subduing them, adopted their name according to an Indian custom which gave the name of the conquered to the conquerers, is not to be relied upon, as no history of New England makes any mention of that redoubtable tribe, nor is there any authority for the belief that the custom spoken of ever existed among the Aborigines of America.

Equally wide of the mark is the attempt to trace Yankee Doodle from Yenghi Dounia, which is said to have been good Persian for America, though how such an insular and stationary people as the Persians should ever hear of America and coin a word, especially to express the name of the country, and to suit their vocabulary, does not seem to have been considered by those who suggested that fanciful derivation.

It is likely, although it has not been absolutely verified, that the word Yankee undoubtedly had the Yenghees origin referred to above, but it does not seem to have been very common until the time of the revolutionary war. No one seems to have met with it in writings previous to that time, and in a few letters written in 1775, in which the writer considered it something new, and intended to be contemptuous, used as it was by the colonies' enemies, the British soldiers.

Noah Webster, in his dictionary, gives the Yenghees origin of the word upon the authority of Heckewelder. But this authority may be questioned, for while Heckewelder is excellent authority upon Indian subjects, yet he spent his time principally among the Delawares and the Six Nations, and was not likely to be well acquainted with the Massachusetts Indians, who spoke a different dialect.

Several of the British regiments transferred to Boston after the beginning of the trouble, had been stationed in the middle colonies, and had considerable experience in Indian warfare, and may thus have acquired a knowledge of the word.

That the word was rather uncommon in New England is shown by various letters written from that section. One from Rev. William Gordon, published in The Pennsylvania Gazette, May 10, 1775, says: "They (the British troops) were roughly handled by the Yankees, a term of reproach for the New Englanders, when applied by the regulars."

Another letter published in the same paper a few weeks later, dated Hartford, Conn., gives an account of the capture of several letters from English officers in Boston, some of which were full of invectives against "the poor Yankees, as they call us."

From these facts it would seem probable that the word was so unusual in New England that the writers thought themselves obliged to explain it. It was soon adopted, however, and a few months thereafter the citizens of Newbury fitted out a privateer called the Yankee Hero, and the name was used when speaking of a New Englander, being spelled at times Yankie, Yanke, Yankoo, Yanku and Yankee, as if its orthography was not settled.

The origin of "Yankee Doodle," the popular air, is no clearer than the origin of Yankee. It is said that it was composed by Dr. Schuckberg in 1755, when the colonial troops united with the British regulars near Albany. But it is stated by a writer that the air and words are as old as Cromwell's time, the only alteration being that "Yankee Doodle" was substituted for "Yankee Doodle," the latter name being used to apply to Cromwell.

SCHOOL BOOKS

Editor Constitution: I shall at the next session of the legislature introduce a bill for the state through its text-book commission to edit and have printed by competitive bids, and to furnish to the children at cost, all books used in the common and high schools of this state.

Ontario, Canada, has not as many children as Georgia, nor do they appropriate $2,500,000 a year to public schools as we do. What difference is there between Georgia and Ontario, except an imaginary line. The cost in Ontario on the first five readers and high school arithmetic is 59 cents. In Georgia, these books cost $1.76. Now, the Ontario books contain more pages and are better books than ours. What causes the difference in price? The difference is 242 per cent against us. Ontario commenced in 1909 to edit and have printed by competitive bids all books used in all schools in the province. The prices are at the same ratio on all books there as compared to ours.

Some say that it cost Ontario money to establish its system. This is true. I have the cost of the entire set of readers, including editing, copyrights, drawings, cover plates for books, flags and the entire cost of preparation, and it was $8,694.89. The minister of education writes me that in the six months of its operation there the purchasers of the readers alone saved $70,260, or more than eight times the cost of the entire series.

We are spending over one million dollars yearly for school books, and a saving of 242 per cent of this seems worthy of the most earnest consideration of every newspaper and public-spirited man in Georgia.

A Story of the Moment

By WALT MASON,
The Famous Prose Poet

THE LAST EXPENSE.

"There really ought to be a law," remarked the melancholy boarder. "I met Mrs. Pinktrotter this afternoon and had a talk with her. You know her husband died several months ago, and she says the undertaker's charges were so outrageous she hardly dares hope to get out of debt during the term of her natural life. I think it a shame that any man should be permitted to hold up a stricken widow in such a fashion."

"We have heard only the stricken widow's side of the story up to the hour of going to press," observed the star boarder, "and it is possible that the bereaved relict couldn't stand cross-examination very well. If we had the urbane undertaker here he might be able to prove an alibi.

"The undertaker is abused everywhere and at all seasons as being a heartless cormorant who preys upon the afflicted, but I believe that he is much maligned man. I was well acquainted with Job Pinktrotter, and knew his wife fairly well. She always was a frivolous creature, given to vain display. Nature intended her for a drum major, but got its wires crossed at the eleventh hour. Her husband was sick a long time, and consumed great quantities of drugs and medicines. Drugs and medicines do not grow on the trees, as you well know, my dear Mrs. Jiggers. The apothecary and the chirurgeon had to be paid, and long before death came to Job's relief, his available assets were all used up. I can't say that I censure him for dying, considering everything.

"When he was dead, Mrs. Pinktrotter realized at once that she had the opportunity of her life to cut a wide swath. I wasn't present at the time, but I know that sort of woman so well that her curves are as an open book to me. She made up her mind to have a swagger funeral that would make all the women in the block green with envy. It would be something that people would talk about for years to come, and hang the expense.

"Now, a safe and sane woman, under such conditions, would make economy her first consideration. I can imagine Mrs. Jiggers, what you would do if I should die in the house, with a smile of forgiveness upon my pallid lips. You would go to the undertaker and ask him for something cheap and serviceable in the way of a coffin, something slightly shelfworn, yet warranted to keep in any climate. If the undertaker tried to show you his Parisian caskets, with the name of Worth blown in the lining, you would rebuke him at once. Having done your shopping early, you would take the chosen coffin under your arm and return home, and lay me to my rest with a large wreath of immortelles, purchased at the second-hand store, on my brow. How sleep the brave who sink to rest boxed in a cheap old basswood chest.

"But Mrs. Pinktrotter lacks your judgment, Mrs. Jiggers. She went to the undertaker and asked him to show her the coffins worn by the elite that perish. I have no doubt that the undertaker tried to sell her cheap but useful goods, but she was bound and determined to have the best goods in the shop, and she got what she wanted. Her husband rode to the boneyard in the tonneau of the finest hearse in town, when he would have been satisfied to ride in a wheelbarrow. When a man is as dead as Pinktrotter was at that juncture, all conveyances look alike to him.

"The fact that the undertaker gave her credit for all she wanted shows that his heart was in the right place, and now she goes around calling him a pirate.

"My sympathies are with the undertaker in every instance. He never has the same customer twice. The clothier sells me a suit of clothes as often as my stand-off is good; the barber shaves me several times a week; the tobacconist sells me sauerkraut every day; but when I need the services of the undertaker, Mrs. Jiggers, it is for the first and last time. It is his only chance to get a rake-off from that particular Job. Can we blame him if he charges all the traffic will bear? We should be surprised at his moderation.

"But coffins and embalming fluids and dead men's bones are a gruesome subject for the supper table, so I will ask you to pass some of your celebrated blanc mange, with a modicum of the alleged cream."

DEATH BLOW GIVEN PATENT MONOPOLY

U. S. Supreme Court Declares Retailers Have Right to Cut Prices on Patented Articles. Court Reverses Self.

Washington, May 26.—The so-called "patent monopoly" which threatened to prevent cut rates by retailers in all patented articles on the market was destroyed today by a decision of the supreme court of the United States.

The court held that the owners of patents are not given the right by the patent law to control the price at which retailers must sell to the consumers. The decision in words applied only to a nerve tonic, for which a patent has been issued, but will control all patented articles being sold under restrictions not to resell at out rates.

The court reversed the policy adopted in the famous "mimeograph case," decided a little over a year ago, when only seven justices were on the bench, but allowed that case to stand so far as it goes. Thus was accomplished what has been unsuccessfully sought in congress ever since the "mimeograph case" was decided.

Reversed Former Ruling.

In the "mimeograph case" Justices McKenna, Lurton, Holmes and Vandeventer upheld the right of patent owners to place restrictions on the nature of articles to be used on the patented article sold. Chief Justice White and Justices Hughes and Lamar dissented. Today Justice Day, who was absent a year ago from the court, and Justice Pitney, appointed since then, joined with the chief justice and Justice Hughes and Justice Lamar in overruling the policy advocated by the four justices who handed down the court's decision in the "mimeograph case."

Justice Day announced the decision of the majority members. The four minority justices contented themselves with a mere statement that they dissented. Justice Day said the manufacturers relied chiefly on the "mimeograph case." An examination of the opinion of the court in that case, he said, showed that the restriction was sustained because the machine was sold at cost or less, and that the owner depended on the profit realized from the sale of unpatented supplies to be used upon the machine for reward for his invention. No such conditions existed, he added, in the present case.

In further attempt to distinguish the two cases, the judge said the restriction in the "mimeograph case" was in regard to the use of the machine and only a qualified title to be patented article passed. In the present case, he pointed out, the restriction was to "keep up the price," the sale to the retailer having been absolute.

Not Bound to Keep Up Price.

Justice Day announced the majority decision, which held that while the patent law gave the owner the exclusive right to "vend" articles that was not the same as a right to "keep up the price." That, the court held, was not granted by the patent law.

Many manufacturers had joined the manufacturer of nerve tonic in his fight to sustain the contention that this patent gave him a right to sell or use his patented article under any conditions as to resale price he might see fit to impose. All decisions in the lower courts with the exception of one have been in favor of the manufacturers.

Officials of the department of justice regard the decision of tremendous importance, putting an end to existing widespread extensions of patent monopolies and sharply drawing a line of demarkation between the Sherman anti-trust law and the patent laws.

Cloak of Legal Monopoly.

Under the cloak of the legal monopoly granted by the patent laws, many industries, it is contended, control the price of patented articles to the ultimate consumer. The department of justice has contended that once a patentee sells his patented article he loses all control of it and is powerless, especially in view of the Sherman anti-trust law, to establish resale prices.

Several anti-trust suits now in the courts are based upon this principle, and the department of justice has been eagerly awaiting a determination of the question before starting more prosecution on the same theory. It is said that the right to establish resale prices is being claimed by an almost unlimited number of companies which are now executed to avoid attack by the government.

A diamond now costing $200 will cost $220 as soon as the new tariff bill becomes effective.

The advance made on diamonds by the syndicate on the general run of diamonds averages 14½ per cent yearly. This increase will run the cost of a $200 stone up to $250.

This increase is not a guess, but cold, sound facts.

The tariff bill will no doubt become effective in July or August. Both increases will be felt here in the next few months.

We offer our present stock at the old prices. It will pay you in dollars and cents to anticipate your requirements.

CAPITOL GOSSIP

Outlook Good in Irwin.

J. A. J. Henderson, former representative in the house from Irwin county, was a caller at the capitol yesterday. Mr. Henderson is president of the Ocilla Southern railway and he was in the city to confer with Comptroller General Wright in regard to the tax assessment of the road. While here he talked very optimistically about the prospects for a cotton crop in Irwin county, and south Georgia generally.

"Things are moving on nicely with our farmers," said Mr. Henderson. "The stand of cotton is normally good. We have not had any hard rains, but we do not need much rain in May. We have had plenty to germinate the seed and to keep things going. If conditions continue to be favorable, I believe we will have a good crop of cotton this year."

Governor in Athens.

Governor Brown is in Athens this week, having gone there Saturday afternoon to attend the graduating exercises of the Lucy Cobb institute, where his daughter, Miss Cora Brown, will receive her diploma tomorrow. With a fine record both in her studies and in athletics, Miss Brown has won for herself a large number of friends throughout the state and will be one of the debutantes of the next season.

Street Railway Consolidation.

Permission was granted yesterday by the secretary of state for the consolidation and merger of the Chattanooga and Chickamauga Interurban railway and the Chattanooga railways. The former, which runs from Chattanooga to the government reservation at Fort Oglethorpe, has been taken over by the latter.

Would Increase Stock.

A petition was received yesterday by the railroad commissioner from the Columbus Gas Lights company, asking for permission to issue $100,000 of additional stock. The purpose of the new issue is to enable the company to retire an equal amount of outstanding bills payable.

AT THE THEATERS

"St. Elmo."

(At the Atlanta.)

"St. Elmo," old-time favorite of theatergoers, which was chosen by vote of the patrons of the Atlanta theater and is being presented this week by the Billy Long Stock company, has apparently lost none of the grip upon the audience.

The vivid way in which the author paints human emotions, as shown in the changing of a man's life by the perfidy, of the woman he loves and the man whom he idolized and believed in above other fellowmen, cannot but appeal to all who have human emotions and who have felt in lesser degree the emotions of St. Elmo Murray, after whom the play takes its name.

In its portrayal by the stock company, Edwin Vail carries on well the part of St. Elmo. His features and characteristics seem to blend well with the St. Elmo who in the first act is a man "whose heart has been blackened," as also in the final act, when the love of the little girl of Lookout Mountain, and the unfailing belief of the old pastor, have softened his heart until he again realizes that life may mean something to him again.

Miss Billy Long, in the role of Edna Earle makes an ideal childish heroine, as she has in the role of a grown woman. Her interpretation of the barefoot little girl, whose life was wrapped up in her grandfather, a blacksmith, whose little forge stood at the base of the mountain, was well received, as was her emotional acting later, when years are supposed to have passed, and she has taken a higher place in the world before she fills the vacant place in St. Elmo's life. The other members of the company also appear well in their parts, none of which are minor ones.

JAIL DOORS CLOSE ON MRS. PANKHURST

London, May 26.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, leader of the militant suffragettes, was today returned to Holloway jail, having, in the opinion of the authorities, recovered her health sufficiently to serve another period of her three years' sentence.

Mrs. Pankhurst, evidently not strong when arraigned at the Bow street police court, declared vehemently that she would continue her hunger strike until she died or the government gave women the vote.

When the gates of Holloway and opened to receive her, a score of militant suffragettes tried to rush the prison and the wardens had difficulty in preventing them from entering with their leader. For a long time they remained outside shouting: "We will keep on fighting until we win."

Name of Davies Withdrawn.

Washington, May 26.—President Wilson today withdrew the nomination of Joseph E. Davies, of Wisconsin, to be commissioner of corporations. It was brought to the president's attention that the position was an appointive one, not requiring confirmation by the senate. Several senators had announced their intention of opposing Mr. Davies if he did not resign his place as secretary of the democratic national committee. The president is now expected to announce the appointment.

WHO'S "SMITH?" HIS NAME'S DENNIS!

MISS SUSANNE CARROLL

Miss Susanne Garrott, a noted southern beauty, to whom Robert W. Chambers dedicated his recent novel, "The Gay Rebellion," is going to marry. The lucky man is Major John Philip Hill, United States district attorney for Maryland. The engagement has just been announced. When Mr. Chambers dedicated his book to Miss Carroll he wrote, "Though J. H.' jest and 'Smith' incline to frown, I do not fear, for you, Susanne, have long since won my heart." Everybody now knows that "J. H." is Major Hill, but the mystery of "Smith" still remains. Of course it doesn't make much difference now who "Smith" is. His name is Dennis anyway. The wedding will take place in June and will be of interest not only to Baltimore and New York society, but also to many people in Europe, where Miss Carroll spent her girlhood. Miss Carroll is a granddaughter of Mrs. Tuckerton Carroll, with whom she has made her home in New York city the last few winters. She is also a great-great-granddaughter of Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, a signer of the Declaration of Independence. Major Hill is a graduate of Harvard, a member of the Massachusetts Society of the Cincinnati, the Maryland club and the Metropolitan club, of Washington.

IMPORTANT PROBLEMS CONCERNING NEGROES ARE ABLY DISCUSSED

The eighteenth annual conference for the study of negro problems took place at Atlanta university yesterday. The theme this year was, "Morality and Religion Among Negro Americans." A large number of students and friends gathered at the morning session at 10 o'clock, the subject being "Social Service and the School."

In the afternoon there was a unique and interesting scene upon the campus. One hundred and seventy little negro children from the five free kindergartens went through with their customary exercises on the terrace east of the girls' dormitory, while their parents and friends formed an admiring audience. There were ring games and songs. The children divided up into the different schools and had hand work. These five kindergartens are located on East Cain street, on Bradley street, in White's alley, at the Leonard street orphan's home and at the Presbyterian mission of the Central Presbyterian church.

Following the children's part of the program there were reports from the officers of the association and papers describing other efforts for social betterment among the negroes. The subject of "Social Service and the American Negro," was addressed by the principal of Haines institute, in Augusta, Ga., and by Dr. W. E. B. DuBois, of New York city. The first speaker dwelt upon the importance of the negroes conserving their moral forces, through education and three-fifth play.

The best known visitor at this conference is Dr. W. E. B. DuBois. For fifteen years Dr. DuBois was at the head of the sociological department of Atlanta university and under his guidance the conference for the study of negro problems has been developed. Two years ago Dr. DuBois went to New York to take up the work of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. He has since then, however, had the general direction of the conference investigation work. At the morning session he spoke upon the negro problem as a part of the larger social problems of the world, showing a direct relation between the attitude of mankind toward the darker races and the abolition of war, the uplift of women, the education of children, the spread of democracy and better distribution of wealth. In the evening address he discussed the question of what the 10,000,000 negroes in the United States may do for the world.

U. S. SUPREME COURT TO CLEAN UP DOCKET

Washington, May 26.—Determination to decide all the cases under consideration by it before adjourning for the long summer recess, the supreme court of the United States today further prolonged the present term by the unprecedented act of fixing a date late as Saturday, June 14, as a tentative final decision day. It will meet on June 9 to hand down decisions, and if "the state of the business demands" will hold another decision day after June 14.

About fifty cases were disposed of today, but there are still before the court some 115 cases. The cases undecided include the state rate, the inter-mountain rate, the Porter Charity, the "turpentine trust," the newspaper publicity law and the Nashville grain cases.

NO LIQUOR ALLOWED IN THE INDIAN COUNTRY

Washington, May 26.—Federal laws against "the introduction of liquor into Indian country" were today held by the supreme court to prohibit the introduction of liquor from neighboring states into Oklahoma counties occupied by Indians.

The decision was in the case of Bob Wright, indicted in the federal court for introducing liquor into Muskogee county, Okla. The indictment was upheld today, the lower court being reversed.

NO PENALTY CARRIED BY THE WEBB MEASURE

Knoxville, Tenn., May 26.—That no conviction can be secured under the provisions of the Webb act, was the statement of Judge E. T. Sanford in his charge to the federal grand jury today.

The Webb act was described as an act that had no power to inflict a penalty and therefore it was explained, no conviction could possibly be secured under its provisions.

Its chief worth was stated to be that it removed from interstate shipments of liquar the protection of federal legislation, and gave the states greater freedom in enforcing their respective state liquor laws.

WILSON TURNS LIGHT ON THE TARIFF LOBBY

penalities would be imposed for violations.

Democratic leaders were almost unanimous in support of the president's statement, maintaining that they are well able to handle the important pending tariff legislation, and that sugar and wool will be thoroughly considered and disclussed by the finance committee and democratic caucus before it is reported. No change of policy relating to the schedule has yet been determined, however, it is emphatically declared by the members of the committee.

Systematic Misrepresentation.

The president made his statement to the newspaper correspondents at the white house.

The president said he had no doubt that a few so-called lobbyists were here on legitimate errands, but that the great majority were occupied in a systematic misrepresentation of facts. While the president believes that the "lobby" opposition is concentrated against free sugar and free wool, he is not apprehensive that it will be successful.

The president made it clear that he believed scientific business methods and efficiency would overcome tariff cuts, and that with the application of scientific methods Louisiana would not only be able to continue in the sugar industry, but do so profitably.

Statement Exposing Lobby.

The statement by President Wilson follows:

"I think that the public ought to know the extraordinary exertions being made by the lobby in Washington to gain recognition for certain alterations of the tariff bill. Washington has seldom seen so numerous, so industrious or so insidious a lobby. The newspapers are being filled with paid advertisements calculated to mislead the judgment of public men not only, but also the public opinion of the country itself. There is every evidence that money without limit is being spent to sustain this lobby and to create an appearance of a pressure of public opinion antagonistic to some of the chief items of the tariff bill.

"It is of serious interest of the country that the people-at-large should have no lobby and be voiceless in these matters, while great bodies of astute men seek to create an artificial opinion and to overcome the interests of the public for their private profit. It is thoroughly worth the while of the people of this country to take knowledge of this matter. Only public opinion can check and destroy it.

"The government, in all its branches, ought to be relieved from this intolerable burden and this constant interruption to the calm progress of debate. I know that in this I am speaking for the members of the two houses, who would rejoice as much as I would to be released from this unbearable situation."

Kingsley Given Gruelling.

Darwin P. Kingsley, president of the New York Life Insurance company, appealed today to the senate sub-committee income tax section to exempt all insurance written for protection and mutual benefit and not for profits. He had a spirited exchange with Senator Williams over campaign contributions disclosed in the Hughes investigation several years ago.

"When your company paid $250,000 to a campaign fund," asked Senator Williams, "none of that money ever was participated in by the policyholders, was it?"

"No, it was not," said Mr. Kingsley. "Then that proved that your company's assertion that policy-holders participated in all the earnings of the company was false, didn't it?"

"It proved," Mr. Kingsley returned, "that the judgment of the company's officers who paid this campaign contribution, thinking it was necessary to protect the assets of the company, was bad."

"It proved more than that," asserted Senator Williams. "It was absolute dishonesty. I was a policy-holder and a democrat, and you took part of my money and gave it away to protect me against my own party. But has all that sort of thing been done away with in the insurance business?"

"Absolutely," replied President Kingsley. He explained laws which prohibit it.

President Kingsley submitted a detailed statement of his company's business and resources to show that it conducted business actually on a mutual basis. The total assets of his company last year were $719,000,000, and he declared not a dollar was kept back from the fund in which policyholders participated.

Wheat on Free List.

Following the statement made several days ago by Senator Williams, of the finance sub-committee, which has the agricultural schedule under consideration, that the duty on live-stock and their products and grains and their products would be equalized, it was reported today that the committee had agreed to put wheat on the free list along with wheat flour. In the Underwood bill wheat is given a duty of 10 cents a bushel, while wheat flour is free of duty. It also was reported that the committee probably would recommend removal of the 10 per cent duty on cattle, sheep and hogs in conformity to the free listing of all fresh meats in the Underwood bill.

Senator Pomerene, of Ohio, said today that a large delegation of manufacturers of clothing for men and women from Cleveland, Cincinnati and other Ohio cities called and informed him that they did not care one way or another about the tariff duties placed on ready-made clothing.

"They told me," said Senator Pomerene, "that they were ready right now to go into foreign markets and compete with the foreign manufacturers of ready-made clothes; what they are asking is that the date for putting all the schedules of the tariff bill into effect be delayed long enough after the passage of the bill to enable them to adapt their business to the new rates."

These men, the senator said, represented the biggest centers of the ready-made clothes industry in this country outside of New York. He added that their request that the date of going into effect of the tariff rates be postponed was being given serious consideration.

Pushed to the Limit.

The senate sub-committees which will close oral hearings tomorrow night were pushed to the limit all day and tonight, some of them hearing as many as thirty representatives of manufacturing and other interests. Senator Johnson's sub-committee heard witnesses protesting against free sugar and sundry articles and representatives of large southern cotton mills opposed to the rates of cotton and cotton goods.

Senator Stone's sub-committee heard many witnesses protesting against woolen manufactures and silk rates.

Darwin P. Kingsley, who appeared before Senator Williams' committee, appealed for exemption on the income tax of all insurance business done for mutual benefit and protection and not for profit, and maintained that companies such as his came under that classification. The committee took the matter under advisement after Mr. Kingsley had given the assurance that the entire surplus of the New York Life company was held in reserve for the participation of policy holders.

In the senate, Senator Cummins questioned the methods by which experts of the finance committee had reduced the specific rates in the Payne-Aldrich bill to the equivalent ad valorem rates in the Underwood bill. He said that the equivalents were misleading in many instances. Senator Simmons said he would endeavor to ascertain the methods employed by the experts.

CONSUMERS PROTECTED FROM THE RAILROADS

Washington, May 26.—Railroads may not force consumers to deal with manufacturing plants located on their lines by adjusting freight rates from plants located on their lines in disregard of the rights of such plants to have their products moved at reasonable rates.

This principle was laid down by the interstate commerce commission today in a decision involving rates on plaster and gypsum rock from and to points in the middle west.

NO COURTS AT ALL, SAYS JUSTICE WHITE

Washington, May 26.—The practice of judges sitting in federal courts of appeals, even with the consent of the parties, to review, with other judges, cases that have been decided in the district courts, was given a death blow today by the supreme court declaring the judgment of such a court void.

Chief Justice White said the court of appeals so composed were no courts at all under the statutes. The point was announced in a suit over the validity of patents for turbine engines, such as are used in the navy. Several other cases may be affected by the decision.

Social Interest Now Centers In the Players' Performance

"What is the Importance of Being Earnest?" the uninitiated are asking each other. "Of course it is important to be earnest at times, but why should we be earnest when we go see the players—we would rather not be."

"But you don't know what you are saying," say those who know. "Ernest in this case is the man's name, and, though the players are very much in earnest in the good work they are putting in their parts, the play is one of the cleverest, most brilliant and most epigrammatic of any of the shorter ones the great artist-dramatist ever wrote.

"It is difficult," the critics say, because every line is thoughtful and subtle, and every word counts, while those attending the rehearsals predict that the talented group in the cast are going to prove what splendid work amateurs can do when they are students of English as these young people are.

The performance will take place the evening of June 3, at the Atlanta theater.

Mr. Marsh Adair, Mr. Lamar Hill, Mr. Hamilton Douglas, Jr., and Mr. Frank Taylor have the male roles.

Mrs. John Marshal Slaton, Mrs. William Owens, Mrs. Henry Bernard Scott and Miss Hildreth Burton Smith form the gifted group of women who are rehearsing their parts faithfully each day.

AGNES SCOTT SINGERS DRAW BIG AUDIENCE

Young Ladies of Glee Club Applauded at Annual Concert. Seniors Burn Books.

A large and appreciative audience was present to hear the concert of the college glee club at Agnes Scott last night. The opening cantata, entitled the "Death of Joan of Arc," was led by Miss Almedia Sadler and Miss Isabel Norwood. They were assisted by the glee club chorus.

Miss Sadler made a hit by her rendition of two coon songs, "Mammy's Little Honey" and "My Lady Clo." Other songs on the program were "The Last Rose of Summer" and "A Serenade" by Miss Rosa Hill; "Love's Dilemma and "That Is Well," by Miss Isabel Norwood; and "Annie Laurie," by Misses Jean Ashcraft, Isabel Norwood, Pauline Bruner and Rosa Hill.

The last number was a song composed specially for the occasion, entitled "Dear Old Agnes Scott." It was rendered by the entire glee club and was greeted with great applause.

Immediately after the concert, a large crowd gathered on the campus to see the seniors and sophomores parade with torches held aloft in their hands. The parade ended with the seniors burning their books, thus solemnly taking leave of college life.

The commence ment exercises will be continued tonight with the annual debate between the two literary societies. The subject of debate is: "Resolved, That the Panama Canal should be free."

Let us sell you a pretty home in the charming CAPITOL VIEW section of Atlanta—inside of the city limits—for only $100 down—and, as little as $21 a month—till the house and lot is paid for. There will be no mortgage to assume. That surely beats paying rent.

This property is 95 feet higher than the center of the city—in a healthy and tree-shaded locality—and only 18 minutes from Five Points. In 1907 the Georgia Railway and Electric Company ran SMALL cars to this section every 30 minutes—In 1909 they put on LARGER cars and ran them every 20 minutes—but, on account of the growth of population, they NOW run the BIGGEST cars every 15 minutes.

Don't work for your LANDLORD any more—buy a home of your OWN, on our EASY terms—at CAPITOL VIEW, where values are steadily increasing. Phone us for full particulars—or, even better, call at our office!

DEFENSE SHOWS HAND IN THE TRIAL OF WOOD

Testimony to Prove Wool Trust Chief Didn't Plan "Planting" of Dynamite.

Boston, May 26.—Indications that the defense would rely upon its ability to prove that Frederick E. Atteaux, who is admitted to have received checks from the American Woolen company, was employed by the company in a legitimate capacity, developed at the dynamite conspiracy trial today. The government alleges that money paid to Atteaux upon authority of the president of the American Woolen company, William M. Wood, was in furtherance of a conspiracy entered into by Wood, Atteaux, Dennis J. Collins, John J. Breen and Ernest W. Pitman to cast suspicion upon the textile strikers at Lawrence by "planting" dynamite on premises occupied by them.

William H. Dwelly, Jr., treasurer of the woolen company, who was summoned as a witness for the prosecution, testified under cross-examination that Atteaux was instructed to visit various places where the company's factories are located and confer with the mill agents regarding labor troubles.

The payments to Atteaux in two checks, totalling $2,653, were entered, according to the witness, in the manner that all legitimate disbursements were recorded on the company's books.

Testimony that Atteaux had performed similar services for the company in 1902, during the labor troubles, and that he had been paid in the same manner, was given by C. C. Wiggin, vice president and comptroller of the woolen company. For this work, the witness said, Atteaux received $1,000. The voucher for this payment was introduced and shown to be identical in form with the voucher of Atteaux's account in 1912. The witness explained that any expenditure authorized by President Wood would be paid without question.

Attorney William M. Butler was called in an attempt by the state to establish that Wood and Atteaux met at the offices of the American Woolen company on January 19, 1912, the day the dynamite was "planted." The witness denied that he had been at the company's office on that day or had seen Wood and Atteaux together. He also denied that he had told the prosecutor to the contrary.

MASSEY MUST RETURN OR FORFEIT HIS BOND

Columbia, S. C., May 26.—(Special.)—W. J. Massee, the wealthy Macon, Ga., capitalist, is ordered to be remanded to the sheriff of Spartanburg county and by him turned over to a proper officer of the state of Tennessee to be taken back there and stand trial unless it is shown that the requisition issued for Massee by Governor Hooper is officially withdrawn, in an opinion rendered today by the state supreme court reversing the order of Circuit Judge Sease, who discharged Massee on a writ of habeas corpus. Massee is out on a $10,000 bond and is at his home in Georgia.

The supreme court holds that Judge Sease erred in allowing Mr. Massee bail and that the circuit judge or state courts in habeas corpus proceedings testing the validity of extradition papers can go so far only as to inquire whether they are regularly made out under the federal laws.

HE FAILED ON "EXAMS" AND KILLED HIMSELF

Lille, France, May 26.—Disappointment at his failure to pass his examinations caused a medical student named Cuvillier to commit suicide at the university here today. At the moment when the dean of the faculty was reading the list of results and had reached the student's name with the announcement that he had not qualified, he drew a revolver and shot himself in the breast.

Wilson and Alaska.

Washington, May 26.—President Wilson told Senators Chamberlain and Jones today that he felt kindly toward the proposal for government construction of railroads in Alaska. Mr. Wilson expressed his hope that a bill might be passed this session, but made it clear that in view of the urgency for tariff and currency reform, he would be unable as yet to recommend anything.

GEORGIA COTTON MEN WANT HIGHER RATES

President Gordon Tells Senators Reductions in Underwood Bill Are Too Drastic.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, May 26.—(Special.)—F. B. Gordon, president of the Columbus Manufacturing company, appeared before a sub-committee of the senate finance committee today and insisted that the reductions in the Underwood bill were too drastic and would cripple the cotton textile industry.

He presented the resolutions adopted by the cotton mill men of Georgia at their convention in Columbus a few days ago.

He predicted that the increased competition from abroad in the finer grades of goods would drive the local manufacturers who now make these goods into the field of heavier goods.

"This will surely lead to overproduction," he said, "the most deadly blight that can afflict any manufacturing industry. When that results, the price is made by the weak mill or the timid holder, and there is a rush to get rid of goods without a loss, if possible."

Other Georgia mill men who appeared before the committee were F. W. Smith, president of the Muscogee Manufacturing company, and J. D. Massey, treasurer of the Eagle and Phoenix mills, Columbus.

GRASSHOPPER ARMY ADVANCING ON TEXAS

Amirallo, Texas, May 26.—Traveling northeastward a column of grasshoppers 6 miles wide and 18 miles long is reported in northeastern New Mexico today.

Reports that the millions of grasshoppers seem to spread as they travel and also the appearance of smaller bodies of grasshoppers in sections of west Texas have caused fear of a general grasshopper pest in the southwest, especially in Texas, western Oklahoma and New Mexico.

The New Mexico column is today between Elida and Texlin. It is reported entirely denuding the land of grass as well as destroying all kinds of foliage. Stock, especially sheep, have been left in a starving condition by lack of pasturage after the grasshoppers passed.

Government, state and railroad experts have combined forces in New Mexico to fight the grasshoppers by using poison.

SCOTT'S BODY TO STAY IN ANTARCTIC TOMB

London, May 26.—No effort is to be made to disturb the body of Captain Robert F. Scott, nor those of the heroes who died with him while returning from the expedition to the South Pole.

Lord Curson made this announcement today at a meeting of the Royal Geographical society, when the society's medals were presented to the widows of Captain Scott and Dr. Edward A. Wilson, and to surviving members of the expedition.

Relatives of the Antarctic victims has expressed the unanimous desire that the recovery of the bodies never should be attempted.

Toledo, May 26.—W' n a bent umbrella rib a man giving his name as James Evans, of Chicago, robbed the Northern National bank at noon today of two rolls of bills, each containing $500. The money was abstracted from the teller's window. Pursued by bank attaches, Evans ran into the arms of a policeman.

WOODROW WILSON WINS JURY REFORM FIGHT

Jacksonville, Fla., May 26.—In the United States court today the Upchurch Lumber company, owing $900,000, was placed in the hands of a receiver by Judge Call. It is one of the largest concerns of the kind in the south. Arthur T Williams was appointed receiver.

FRANCE SUPPRESSING ANTI-ARMY AGITATORS

Paris, May 26.—Energetic action was taken by the French government against the anti-military campaign in France today. More than eighty offices of the General Confederation of Labor exchanges in Paris and provincial cities were occupied by the police.

All documents found in the bureaus were seized by order of the government, which intends to prosecute on charges of sedition, the organizers of recent demonstrations among the soldiers against the newly introduced three years' term of service in the active army.

The arrangements of the police were carefully made, and the seizures were carried out simultaneously everywhere. It was asserted that much incriminating material was found.

RICHMOND COUNTY WON'T HAVE CENT IN A FEW MONTHS

Augusta, May 26.—(Special.)—"Within three months, at the present rate of expense, Richmond county will be without a dollar to its credit," said W. A. Clark, county treasurer, in a lengthy communication to an Augusta newspaper dealing with the financial affairs of the county received yesterday.

Comparison of figures given in the statement show that the expenses of the county board of education have increased 110 per cent in the last decade, or from a total expenditure in 1903 of of $96,000 to $202,000 in 1913.

The increase of $106,000 in the last ten years has been made, he says, despite the fact that two city schools have been eliminated from the system and only one city school has been added, which has school fees and an endowment.

"The most unique feature of the report is an item for $3,848.91 labeled 'Improvements 1660th District.' This, I am informed, is the cost of a bungalow erected at Gracewood, Ga., where the rising generations of that community are to be initiated into mysteries and miseries that develop in the manufacture of Charlotte russe and lemon pie.

"I am further informed that this bungalow has been equipped with an incubator attachment, where the little ones will probably be taught to count their chickens before they are hatched.

"Ten years ago, with a county digest of $24,000,000, the school rate was 21 mills. Last year, the digest was $32,000,000 and the rate of tax was 39 mills and the board says it will be necessary to raise the rate for 1912."

Alleged Robber Captured.

Augusta, Ga., May 26.—(Special.)—Suspected of being the robber of the Horse Creek Valley postoffice, Tom Toole, believed to be an escaped convict, was arrested yesterday on the charge of robbery. He was seen attempting to dispose of stamps at reduced prices, and the police notified. On his person were found about 50 postal cards and a quantity of stamps.

Lieutenant Britt, of the local police force, says Toole is the man who escaped from the county chaingang several years ago while under an 8-year sentence. A reward is standing for the apprehension of the parties guilty of the Horse Creek postoffice robbery.

Denounces Socialism.

Augusta, Ga., May 26.—(Special.)—Socialism was denounced as being fundamentally wrong and morally debasing and as a means employed by satan to undermine the Christian church by Rev. R. W. Thiot, pastor of Curtis Baptist church, in a sermon on that subject yesterday.

Dr. Thiot is delivering a series of sermons on "The Signs of the Times," and warning churchgoers of the city of the approaching time for the second coming of Christ.

BIG LAGRANGE MILL TO BE DOUBLED IN SIZE

LaGrange, Ga., May 26.—(Special.)—The Park mill, which has been out of operation for a number of months, will be immediately doubled in size, equipped with new machinery and started in operation as soon as the improvements and additions can be completed.

The Atlanta and West Point railroad will at once construct additional sidetrack facilities for the mill.

The final negotiations looking to the reopening and enlargement of the Park mill were completed very recently by Howard Park, one of the most aggressive and active business men of LaGrange. He has secured ample eastern backing for the work, and from present indications the enlargement of the Park mill will be one of the most potent factors in the development of LaGrange which has occurred for some time.

Mr. Park will also start work within the next sixty days on four new stores in the heart of the business district of LaGrange.

Adding to Greensboro Mill.

Greensboro, Ma., May 26.—(Special.) Among the recent improvements in the Business life of Greensboro is the work beinfi done on the Mary Lelia cotton mills. The mill's capacity will be doubled, at a cost of $100,000, and the work will be finished by June 6. Two large, new reservoirs have been added, and several new homes have been erected. Over 200 hands will be employed, with a payroll of over $40,000 a year. Practically all of this money is spent here. The Georgia railroad has constructed two new tracks, at a cost or $7,000, and will add another spur track to cost $6,000.

HIGH COURT TO PASS ON THE GOMPERS CASE

Washington, May 26.—The district supreme court here, which originally sentenced Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison to jail for contempt of court, filed a petition with the supreme court of the United States today, asking the highest tribunal to review the decision of the district court of appeals, which affirmed the conviction of the three men, but reduced their sentences. At the same time the high court had under consideration another application for a review of a writ of error presented by attorneys for the convicted.

Gompers originally was sentenced to twelve months, Mitchell to nine and Morrison to six. The district court of appeals affirmed the conviction and reduced Gompers' sentence to thirty days, and Mitchell's and Morrison's to a fine of $500 each.

Attorneys for the labor leaders ask a review and reversal of the lower court on many grounds; the district supreme court, against which it is alleged the men committed contempt in the Buck Stove and Range case, asks review on the ground that the court of appeals had no authority to reduce the sentences after affirming the convictions.

Those best informed on the history of jurisprudence in the supreme court of the United States know of no other instance in which one inferior court had applied to the highest tribunal to reverse another inferior court.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL BUYS 180-ACRE FARM

Athens, Ga., May 26.—(Special.)—The closing of the State Normal school this year showed fewer changes in the personnel of the faculty than has been the case in several years. Miss Gertrude Elizabeth, Miss Bessie Reed and Miss Annie Mathews resigned. Miss Julyw McArthur is elected teacher of common school singing. Miss Bessie Baird, from the Stouf Memorial institute, Wisconsin, is named assistant in the domestic science department.

A second scholarship assistant in musical training is to be supplied, two vacancies in the training school made by transferring the teachers are open, and a new position is to be filled, lavd principal of the dormitories, who will have intimate direction of the dormitory life of the institution.

Authorized by the board of trustees tod o so, the State Normal has bought a farm of 180 acres of good land on the river, two miles from Athens, and will utilize that tract for a dairy and truck garden of sufficient proportions to raise all the milk an butter, the hogs, some of the beef and all the vegetables the dormitories feeding 800 students will need.

Newark, N. J., May 26.—Jacob Dunn and Seeley Davenport, the Wharton, N. J., woodchoppers who sent threatening letters to President Wilson before he assumed office, were sentenced to state prison today. Dunn for five years and Davenport for two.

Pelicans Are Easy in First Battle

WHIFFS

Ir Tough Luck.

TOMMY BURNS is having all the bad breaks in his career as a fight promoter. He just got the boxing game going good at Calgary and then in his first big fight, one of the principals is killed. But on top of this comes the announcement that some one stuck a match to his arena. That's having 'em break in bunches. It never rains but it pours.

We Apologize.

HUGH ROBERTS, sporting editor of the Birmingham Age-Herald, calls our attention to a misstatement. We accused he and Barney Sheridan of boxing at outs. Mr. Roberts corrects by saying there is no such thing as a scrap between them. Sheridan made everything O. K. by admitting he was wrong.

Must Be True.

CHATTANOOGA scribes claimed at the start of the season that Gabby Street would "make" Covaleskie. Evidently he is living up to their predictions if the present clip of the Pole is any evidence. He has won the last five games he has pitched and has copped eight games and lost but three this season. The Pole seems set for his best season.

Re-e-e-e-ce-e-e.

TY COBB loves the Philadelphia town and their manager. Yet, he does not love them since the unpleasant spiking incident Cobb has always been right after the Athletics. He always tries his hardest against them. The recent Detroit-Philadelphia series is a fair sample. Cobb got seven hits in eight times at bat and drew five free tickets. Pretty bad, eh—what?

He's In Again.

OFFICER, call a cop. Some energetic young sport scribe has started the usual yearly story about Charley Frank giving up the managerial berth at New Orleans and taking over the management of the Memphis team, which is owned by his wife's uncle, Frank P. Coleman. The "ghost dancers" are loose again.

May Be Fatal.

ZYBSZKO, the Polish wrestler, is in a critical condition as the result of a bout with Constant Lemarin at Montreal Sunday night. It is said that the big Pole's skull is crushed as the result of pile-driving one of the ring. Lemarin was probably handling him too roughly and the ropes could not hold him. However, the referee stopped the match and gave it to the Pole. Canada is having its share of notoriety these days. If Zybszko dies both boxing and wrestling are likely to be barred in the dominion.

New Manager.

DISGUSTED with the poor showing of the team, the LaGrange baseball association has named a new manager, Kid Brannen, Georgia star pitcher for several seasons, has been given the berth and has assumed charge of the team. LaGrange fans hope for better times under his management.

Will Be Factor.

THE RESULT of the games between Alabama and Vanderbilt at Tuscaloosa will determine in a measure the ultimate ranking of the southern college teams this season. If the Alabama boys take two of the three games to be played, or make a clean sweep, their claims will be the best of any in the south.

Is Strengthening.

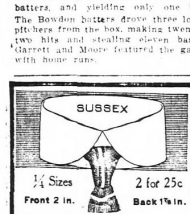
JOE TINKER, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, is not letting any grass grow under his feet. He has purchased a couple of new pitchers and in doing so brought praise from Cincinnati scribes. "Even if they are inexperienced," said one, "they cannot be any worse than the ones he now has," which is putting it pretty strong. "But he is to be commended for not losing any time," they add.

After Record.

JIM MILAN can keep up his present clip on the paths, when the end of the season rolls around, the Washington speed merchant will have established a stolen base record for all time. No matter what the league. He will have stolen 129 bases, at this same percentage.

Bowdon Wins.

Carrollton, Ga., May 26.—(Special.)—The Bowdon baseball team playing here this afternoon, defeated the locals by the score of 13 to 0. The feature of the game was the pitching of Bird, striking out nineteen Carrollton batters, and yielding only one hit. The Bowdon batters drove three local pitchers from the box, making twenty-two hits and stealing eleven bases. Garrett and Moore featured the game with home runs.



The Sussex is the newest and, as yet, unimitated wide sweeping front effect—the Spring and Summer season's collar-find. Like all

RUDOLFO WINNER KENTUCKY HANDICAP

Louisville, Ky., May 26.—Rudolfo, a 4-year-old colt, well ridden by Jockey Loftus, won the Kentucky handicap, the richest American turf event, at Douglas park today, and set a new track record of 2:05 4-5 for the mile and a quarter. Officially the track was pronounced "good," but the track record was equaled once and broken three times in the six races of the opening program of the meeting.

The eleven starters in the handicap included some of the crack 3-year-olds that have shown class at spring meetings, but the race went to an older horse, and gained a point for those who contend a really good horse is at its best as a 4-year-old.

Rudolfo won the race from a 3-year-old, Ten Point, after the latter had led for most of the distance. Away badly, Loftus forced the son of Sir Hugo or Batts-Watema into second place at the three-quarters. With Gowell third, this position was maintained until in the stretch, when the 3-year-old faltered and Rudolfo, under driving, forged to the front by half a length. Ten Point tired rapidly in the last furlong, and had to be ridden out to get second place by half a length from Amy Pet, which showed remarkable speed in the last quarter mile.

Hamilton was close up to Ten Point when the former was running his race in the first mile, but quit badly and Foundation, to which many westerners had pinned their hopes and their money, failed to show ability commensurate with his showing as a 2-year-old. Buckhorn suffered interference at two turns, and finished far in the rear. Rudolfo paid more than $ to 1.

The Kentucky handicap, which featured the card for the opening of the spring meeting at Douglas park, carried $10,000 added money, and was worth to H. H. Emmons, owner of the winner, $12,150.

Summary: Rudolfo, 119, Loftus, $18.10, .07, $5.20.

Ten Point, 110, Gross, $4.80, $3.40.

Amy Pet, 140, McCabe, $5.80.

Buckhorn, Hamilton, Frog Legs, Gowell, Miss Thorpe, Flora Fina, Milton B. and Foundation also ran.

Will Hit True Stride Shortly

Crackers' fleet-footed outfielder and hard-hitter, who has been off his stride for the past month, as the result of an injury to his ankle, which kept him out of the game for a couple of weeks and which slowed him up perceptibly in all departments of play. Bailey is coming around rapidly now and in a few days will be traveling at the clip that made him one of the most feared batters on the local team last season. Bailey has been given the reputation of being one of the best batters in the league by no other authority than the umpires. Rudderham said of Bailey last season: "He is one of the best hitters in the league. By that I mean that he is always dangerous. The pitcher never has anything on him and he seldom hits at a bad ball. What makes him such a good hitter is that he hits left and right-handers alike. Unlike many left-hand batters, southpaws have no terror to him." When Bailey gets back into his stride once more there are going to be a lot more ball games won than have been won during the past few weeks. Bailey is naturally a good hitter and his present stride is only a slump that all good hitters occasion, though his injury is the cause of his.

Yon Fans Fifteen Men.

Greensboro, N. C., May 26.—Pitcher Yon, of the Durham team, of the Carolina Baseball association, established a new strike-out record for the league this afternoon when he fanned fifteen members of the Greensboro team in the game at Durham. The record of fourteen strike-outs was previously held by Ray, of the Winston team.

Chase Gets License.

Jersey City, N. J., May 20.—A marriage license was issued here today to Harold Harris (Hal) Chase and Miss Anna Cherurg, of New York. He is the first baseman of the New York American league team. Chase and Miss Cherurg applied for the license this morning, but inasmuch as Chase couldn't produce a certified copy of the decree of divorce from his first wife, the license clerk refused to issue it. Chase and his bride-to-be left the city hall, promising to return later with the paper. Chase, however, was busy this afternoon with his team, striving to stave off defeat by the Bostons, and Miss Cherurg came alone to the license bureau with the decree and received the license.

Crackers Bunch Their Hits; Pels Make Costly Bobbles; Locals Win Opener 8-3

By Dick Jemison.

The Crackers bunched hits on Rube Evans, the star southpaw of the New Orleans Pelicans, Monday afternoon. This coupled with bobbles in his support, brought about the downfall of the Birds, the Crackers winning 8 to 3.

The Birds fielded as horribly as the reputation that preceded them led one to believe. They made bobbles of the "pinch" kind, letting the ball slip through their fingers or making a wild heave just when it would do the most damage.

Elliott Dent hurled for the Crackers and although the Birds got to him for ten safe clouts, he kept them well scattered or permitted them to arrive after two men were out, when they did but little damage.

Williams Hits Hard.

"Rebel" Williams, former Cracker, playing third base for the Birds, was the hitting star of the day. Four times he faced Dent and four times he faced the ball safely.

Spencer was the second of the attacking Pelicans, with two safe raps, three nice stops by Cap Whitey robbing him of three others.

Welchehonce was the hitting star for the Crackers with a single and a triple, but he also had a nice day in the field, with six put outs and purloined a base. Wallop Smith swiped a couple.

Long contributed a beautiful peg to the plate in the opening chapter that cut off a run and was the one bright fielding spot of the day.

But Whitey was the fielding star. The Atlanta captain made several pretty plays around the keystone, robbing the visiting players of bingles.

Both managers switched their batting orders but the local chieftain's had the proper effect and the only change he made was in making Bailey and Welchonce swap places. It certainly changed the luck.

The Crackers grabbed the lead in their half. With one gone, Smith hit to Clancy who tossed wild to first and Wallop went to second. Bisland walked and Wallop stole third. Agler scored Wallop with a safe smash. Dent hit to Ats, who got the ball ooze through him and Bisland counted.

With one gone Agler drew a free ticket in the fourth, and Dunn sent him to third with a smash to right. Dent hit to second, and while Atz was tagging out Dunn, Agler counted.

The Crackers made three in the seventh. Dent opened up the inning by beating out a hit to short. Long laid down a safe bunt. Welchonce scored Dent with a smash to center. Long raced to third. Alperman filed to left and when Spence threw wild to third, Long scored and Welchonce took second. Welchonce stole third and when Smith smashed one by second, Welchonce counted.

Singles by Spencer and Williams and a double by Snedecor scored a Pelican run in the eighth.

Welchonce Triples.

Agler opened the eighth by walking, but was forced by Dunn. Dent got a hit by second and after Long had went out, Welchonce tripled, scoring both.

Evans opened the ninth with a single. Atz walked and Clancy beat out a hit, filling the bases. Breen hit to short and the Crackers had an easy double play, but Umpire Wright ruled otherwise and Evans counted.

Chappelle, for the Crackers, and Swindell, for the Birds, will be the probable batteries today.

Questions Answered.

Under this head, the sporting editor will endeavor to answer all questions pertaining to all branches of sports.

Dick Jemison, sporting editor The Constitution: 1. If a bet is made on a baseball game, and the game is called in the third inning on account of rain, is the bet off, or is the money held until the first game of the double header when it is played off?

2. If there is a runner on second base and the batter hits a fly directly to second base, and the ball hits the runner while he is standing on the base, is he out? J. T. C.

1. This is up to the two men betting. However, I should declare the bet off.

2. There is no rule covering this point, though a rule saying that when a base runner is struck by a batted ball may do so, as this man is a base runner.

BOYS' HIGH SCHOOL HAS CLOSE CALL

The pennant-winning Boys' High school nine received the closest call of the season yesterday afternoon when they were held to a 6 to 5 score by the Peacock-Fleet school aggregation.

It was a close struggle from start to finish, the outcome being always in doubt.

Boys' High began the scoring in the first inning when they registered a single tally and each team took its turns throughout the nine chapters at leading the score. The winning tally was registered in the ninth inning when Johnson scored on an error.

Smith and Floyd for the winners, each hammered out a two-bagger, while Johnson registered three singles out of five trips to the platter.

Smith did the hurling for the first six innings and was relieved in the seventh by Fox. From these two boxmen the losers extracted six hits and three bases on balls, while seven batters whiffed the breeze.

For the losers, Wells surpassed with the big stick, while Sam and Sanders did some good fielding. Sams pitched an excellent game, and certainly deserved a victory. The defeat cannot be blamed upon him, but upon the bad fielding and numerous errors of his teammates.

EMPIRE STATE LEAGUE

Waycross 5, Thomasville 1.

Thomasville, Ga., May 26—(Special.) With Wild Bill Clark holding the Thomasville batters safe at all stages of the game, Waycross took the first of the series this afternoon by the score of 5 to 1. Costly bobbles by the local infield at critical times cost the game. Meyers worked about the same steady game he usually does, but his support was ragged. Warwick, for Waycross, knocked a homer over center field fence. The fielding of Waycross, with the exception of Burns in left field, replaced by Medlock, was fast and snappy.

Cordele 4, Brunswick 2.

Cordele, Ga., May 26.—(Special.)—Baby Wilder pitched the prettiest game of the season on the local diamond today, allowing only three hits and striking out twelve men. The features of the game were the batting and base running of Day, and the fielding of Brazier Hawkins, for the visitors, pitched good ball, but could not stop the Cordele sluggers.

Valdosta, Ga., May 26.—(Special.)—Valdosta defeated Americus this afternoon in the first game of the series, 4 to 1. Smith, for Americus, walked seven batters and had five stolen bases made on him and his catcher, Manchester. This, together with a few timely bingles, defeated Americus. The visitors got only one runner as far as third—that was in the last half of the ninth. He scored on a close decision at the plate on a try for a triple play by Valdosta. Fielding of the "Otters" and of Bowen on third for the visitors featured.

CHAPMAN IS HERE; PAT GRAHAM GOES

New Receiver Reported Last Night—Waivers Are Asked on Receiver From Last Season.

Catcher Chapman, purchased by Manager Smith from the Cincinnati Reds, arrived here shortly before midnight last night and will be in uniform at Ponce de Leon this afternoon.

Chapman will take Pat Graham's place. Manager Smith asked waivers on Graham last night, and as the last time he asked waivers, every club in the league passed him up the chances are that Pat will be given his outright release when the 3-day waiver time expires.

The new man is touted highly. Harry McIntyre, the veteran twirler with the Pelicans, states that he can throw like a shot and is a beautiful fielder. He believes that Manager Smith picked up a good man.

Chapman was in the Western league for the past two seasons. Last year he hit .288 in 93 games and fielding .977. He made 73 hits and scored 31 runs.

A glance at his record shows that he is a good thrower. He has 487 put out in 99 games and made 147 assists with but 17 errors.

MOTORDROME TO OPEN JUNE 6TH

Jack Prince Has Definitely Decided on Date—Exciting Sport Is Promised Atlanta Fandom.

With seven-eighths of the track finished, and a quarter of the seats in place, Jack Prince, the Motordrome King, has definitely settled on a date for his first motor racing meet in Atlanta. The date is Friday night, June 6

Only since Jack's four-lap track and huge grandstand have been rearing their heights on the old show grounds have the people of Atlanta begun to realize what wonderful sport is in store for them when the motordrome is opened.

Atlantans have seen their fair share of bicycle racing, some little motor-paced bike racing and a considerable amount of automobile racing.

But now comes a sport that is more exciting than any of them—more spectacular than all of them rolled together.

Now get it clear in your mind—the game at the Motordrome is not bicycle racing, is not automobile racing, but it is motorcycle racing, on a quarter-mile, sharply banked track, with every inch in view and with motorcycles making 85, 90 and perhaps 100 miles an hour.

The motorcycles are a good deal like those you see every day on the streets of Atlanta except larger and more powerful. At that they aren't so tremendous. They happen to be just fast enough to go little faster than any human being can ride on them—and live.

If they were ten times as powerful it would all be wasted, for no man lives who would dare to let them out. When you get up around 50 miles an hour you get close to the limit of human endurance. Human flash and human nerves have their limits.

They can stand only just so much speed—and no more. The motorcycles gathered now at Jack Prince's track are fast enough to carry their drivers—and they are among the greatest motorcycle racers in the world—as fast as they dare to go. They are good for 100 miles an hour.

Imagine now a race in which six motorcycles start at the same time on a track which, at the top where the speeding is done, is shaped like the inside of a tin cup! All the men have motors of the same size. All are tuned up exactly alike. They start together, with a flying start. From that time forward they race in mad circles, five times around in a minutes, dashing up and down the inside of the giant cup like flies on a perpendicular wall.

Exciting? Well, they say it is. And to those who have seen the racers practicing each day at the Motordrome it is evident that it could not be otherwise.

Prince is planning some good events for opening night, and will have music, lots of lights, good car service and a strong program of races.

BURNS AND REFEREE WILL BE ARRESTED

Warrants Issued — Eight-Ounce Gloves Were Used—Fight Game Dead in Alberta.

Calgary, Alberta, May 26.—Warrants were issued early today for the arrest of Tommy Burns, who staged the fight in which Luther McCarty met his death; William McCarney, McCarty's manager; Referee Ed Smith and several trainers.

It is understood that the men will be charged with complicity in manslaughter.

Arthur Pelkey, McCarty's opponent, arrested on a charge of manslaughter, was to have a preliminary hearing this morning, but owing to the decision of the physicians, that McCarty's death resulted from dislocation of the neck and not-heart failure, as had first been announced, it was anticipated the hearing would be adjourned awaiting the result of the coroner's inquest.

Blame for flames that destroyed Burns' arena has not been fixed.

It developed today that eight-ounce gloves, instead of the customary five ounce gloves, were used by the fighters in Saturday's tragic fray. This became known when members of the Northwest mounted police seized the gloves for evidence to be presented to the coroner's jury this evening.

McCarty and Pelkey had agreed to use the lesser weight gloves; and, it is said, when the heavier ones were brought into the ring with the excuse that the five-ounce gloves unintentionally had been left in Calgary, which is five miles from the scene of the fight, McCarty's manager objected to their use until McCarty overruled him.

It generally is conceded that the burning of the Burns' arena that night added the only needed blow to put a quietus on the boxing game in Alberta province.

C. R. Mitchell, acting premier of Alberta, said that the law which prohibits professional fighting in Alberta would be rigidly enforced. He has been approached by men in every walk of life, many of whom attended the bout, urging him to take steps to discontinue boxing in this province.

CHASE IS DENIED MARRIAGE LICENSE

Jersey City, N. J., May 26.—"Hal" Chase, first baseman of the New York American baseball team, was refused a marriage license here today because he could not furnish certified proof of divorce from his first wife, Chase was accompanied by his intended bride, Miss Anna Cherung, of New York. He promised to return with the necessary document.

CONVENTISTS CREATE GREAT CONFERENCES

Washington, May 26.—Two great conference organizations, one the North American division conference, and the othe rthe European division conference, were created at today's session of the Seventh Day Adventists of the word at Takoma Park, Md. The first named conference will comprise the entire territory of North America and embrace eighty-four local and union conference organizations, while the latter will embrace the territory of Europe, the Russian and Turkish possessions in Asia, Persia, Arabia, Afghanistan and the northern and eastern parts of Africa.

Officers elected today for the European conference were:

Elder L. R. Conradi, of Hamburg, president; Elder J. T. Boettcher, of Rika, Russia, vice president; Elder Guy Dail, Hamburg, secretary, and Miss Alice Kuessler, of Hamburg, treasurer. The North American conference will meet tomorrow to organize and elect its officers.

BROTHERS ARE GUILAY OF COMMITTING ARSON

Fort Wayne, Ind., May 26.—David and Benjamin Rosenburg pleaded guilty when they were brought to trial today on charges of arson growing out of the burning of their store in this city. The pleas were accepted by the prosecutor on condition that the brothers give all possible assistance in the prosecution of the so-called "arson trust."

Dave Rosenberg entered a plea of guilty to the charge of arson and was given a sentence from two to twenty-one years in the state penitentiary.

Ben Rosenberg, younger of the brothers, pleaded guilty to conspiracy to commit arson and to defraud the insurance company. He was given a suspended sentence of from two to fourteen years and paid a fine of $25 and costs.

Abe Franklin, the third man against whom an indictment was returned, probably will not be placed on trial now.

COVER OF A CARRIAGE CHOKES MAN TO DEATH

Collinsville, Conn., May 26.—William Myers, of this town, met death in a peculiar manner during the night. While out driving in a covered carriage he fell asleep, his head dropped between the ribs of the cover and he choked to death. The body was discovered in the carriage this morning under the wagon shed at the Myers home to which the horse had returned.

FRIEDMANN "CURE" CALLED CRUEL FRAUD

New York Health Board Asked to Prohibit Use of the Serum.

New York, May 26.—Dr. Joseph J. O'Connell, health officer of the port of New York, sent a letter today to Health Commissioner Lederle, requesting him to submit to the board of health at its meeting a resolution prohibiting the administration of the Friedmann treatment for tuberculosis in New York "until such time as those interested affirmatively in its administration shall satisfy the health department of its innocelous character."

"Reports of the investigator of your department," reads the letter in part, "are that dangers which might be apprehended in such a form of treatment are actually present therein. He finds that patients subjected to this treatment have not improved, but have lost ground.

"He finds that where the tuberculosis condition had affected one side prior to inoculation with the serum (sic) that was after such inoculation an unnaturally rapid development of the tubercular process on the hitherto healthy side, which indicates that the operation of the alleged cure had a tendency to accelerate rather than retard the progress of the disease.

"It seems to me that it would be culpable for us to longer hesitate, and that our duty now is to insist upon such a regulation and supervision of this enterprise as shall prevent the perpetration upon the public of a dangerous and cruel fraud.

"The wild advertisement of the serum has had an effect of awakening a final pitiful hope in the breasts of the desperately ill, which shrewd and conscienceless men might turn into an immense financial profit. There has been time and opportunity in plentiful measure extended to Dr. Friedmann and those who propose similar remedies for tuberculosis, to demonstrate the therapeutic value of their treatments, but there has been no such demonstration of value. On the other hand, we have before us reports of the gravest character."

ARMOR PLATE COMBINE WILL BE INVESTIGATED

Washington, May 26.—Investigation of the armor plate situation was authorized by a resolution adopted today by the senate. The naval affairs committee will meet Wednesday to consider instituting a thorough inquiry into armor plate bids and contracts, and probably into the question of establishing a government armor factory.

Today's action was a result of discussion following Mr. Ashurst's recent attacks upon the so-called "armor combine," the introduction by the same senator of a bill to provide for a government plan, and statements from Secretary Daniels, declaring that the navy department cannot get competitive bids for armor plate, and suggesting a government plant as the only relief.

Senator Tillman, chairman of the naval affairs committee, today announced that he favored the plan proposed in the Ashurst bill. "We will never get any relief from the present situation," he said, "until we get an armor plate factory of our own."

BANKER HENRY LOSES HABEAS CORPUS SUIT

New York, May 26.—A writ of habeas corpus obtained by George Garr Henry, the New York banker, indicted in Washington for contempt in refusing to answer certain questions as a witness before the Pujo "money trust" committee was dismissed today by Federal Judge Mayer. As the case now stands, Henry will have to appear in Washington for trial.

NORTHERN BAPTISTS TO RAISE $6,000,000

That Sum to Be Asked Yearly to Advance the Cause of Missions.

Detroit, Mich., May 26.—The fifth annual report of the general apportionment committee, which included a recommendation that the convention make the raising of $6,000,000 for missions annually the ultimate objective, was presented today to the Northern Baptist convention in session here and the recommendation was approved. Several of the recommendations in the report were subjects of active debate.

One for a united missionary campaign by the convention with Dr. John W. Moore, of Boston, as the educational director, was also acted upon favorably.

In his report on the campaign for missions, Dean Shailer Matthews said that out of the campaign had grown a new spirit of co-operation among the Baptists of the country. He declared that the amount raised for general missions during the last year was $250,000 more than ever before in the history of the church.

NINE MEN ARE KILLED IN B. & O. TRAIN WRECK

BICHLORIDE OF MERCURY NOT FATAL TO THIS MAN

Orlando, Fla., May 26.—That bichloride of mercury poison is not always fatal was demonstrated here last Saturday when S. Walters Howe, cashier of the State National bank, swallowed a tablet of that deadly drug mistaking it for a headache dose. As the tablet passed down his throat it contracted the muscles so violently that he discovered his mistake and hurried to the city physician who at once used the stomach pump and gave antidotes with the result that Howe is about as well as usual and he has experienced no harm either.

NOT FREAK MACHINE, BUT STRIPPED STOCK

The Indian motorcycle that Harry P. Glenn, the local professional, rode in an exhibition against time on the Stewart avenue grade Saturday was not a freak board-track machine, as stated in The Constitution Sunday, but a stripped stock machine, such as the Hendee Manufacturing company sells to all customers.

fic conditions and the appearances of the central part of the city. The widening also gives prospects of several new buildings.

The plan is at present to take a 5-foot strip from each sidewalk, thus giving the street ten feet more of width. The sidewalks will be widened to fifteen feet later.

For Whitehall Improving.

One of the most aggressive delegations of business men that has yet appeared before the finance committee completely filled the finance committee room yesterday morning in the interest of the Whitehall improvement. Speeches urging an appropriation in the June sheet, which will enable work to go forward without delay, were made by S. M. Inman, J. Carroll Payne, V. H. Kriegshaber, Walker Dunson, Dr. Payne, R. A. Broyles, J. C. Mason, R. T. Otis and others.

S. B. Turman, county commissioner, explained that the county could get on the Whitehall grading in October if an appropriation is made to cover the city's portion of the work, and that to defer the work until January might make it impossible for them to get at it then.

Chairman Humphrey, of the finance committee, called attention to the fact that the demands were far in excess of the finance committees ability to meet, and his attention was called to the fact that the expenditure of $30,000 for the widening of Whitehall street will give immediate cash return in increased taxes, far in excess of any other money that is being asked for. It was shown that while the work would cost $91,000 and would be a permanent improvement to that extent of the city's property, that the city itself is called on to spend only $30,000 of this amount.

The finance committee seemed impressed with the importance of this work and the necessity of its being done at once, and the Whitehall improvement committee was impressed with the fact that some means would be found by which the matter could be financed by the city.

TAFT STRONGLY URGES PREPARATION FOR WAR

New Haven, Conn., May 26.—Former President William H. Taft, in his concluding lecture at Yale today on "Some Questions of Modern Government," declared the United States was "ludicrously unprepared for war," and criticised congress for failure to provide for an adequate army and navy. Continuing, he said: "Much of the literature written about what would happen in the event of an attack by the Japanese supposes they could do a lot of impossible things, and that in the meantime we would be doing nothing; but we must remember that in the past we have had great luck, and it might not continue."

The latest and most improved domestic and foreign machinery will be installed, and every effort will be exercised to make it the best equipped and most sanitary bottling plant in existence. The test will approximate $250,000.

COCHRAN ADDRESSES LITHONIA SCHOOL

Ralph O. Cochran, representative-elect from Fulton county and candidate for the United States senate, to succeed Senator Hoke Smith in 1914, delivered the literary address at the Lithonia public school commencement Friday night.

There was a large crowd out to hear Mr. Cochran. In his address he laid particular emphasis upon the value of conservatism as an element of success in the lives of men, and the reflection of this characteristic upon public welfare. He showed how much of the agitation of the present day has tended to create unstableness.

New York, May 26.—(Special.)—The cables were rather weak today, and the south sent many bearish messages. The weather continues favorable, and the south is getting very bearish, but a big crop is needed, and the weather must continue favorable right along if prices are to go lower. Any bad weather would cause a very rapid advance. The market opened 6 to 7 down, and eased off five points more during the first hour, after that it held. The close was steady at a net decline of 11 to 12 points. There seemed to be plenty of buying orders in the market at the close. Liverpool Rochester. 9,940,000 12.2 ....

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL OF THE MARKETS

FAVORABLE WEATHER MADE COTTON DECLINE

Market Closed Steady at Net Loss of Seven to Fourteen Points.

New York, May 26.—The cotton market was lower today, owing to favorable weather and crop news, but met considerable support on a scale down and closed steady at a net loss of from 7 to 14 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 5 to 9 points, in sympathy with lower Liverpool cables and, after some little irregularity, the market sold about 13 to 14 points under Saturday's figures of Saturday. Indications for clear, warm weather, following recent rains in the south, were considered very favorable from a new crop standpoint, and numerous reports were received indicating favorable progress in the eastern belt since the week's weather of last week and a good start west of the river. A prominent Georgia crop and weather expert characterizes conditions of the past week as favorable to fully 90 per cent of the belt and a traveling crop expert said the outlook was good in the sections of Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi he had visited. In addition to these facts, a well-known Memphis authority issued a report regarding the condition of the crop at 82.9, or about 2 points above the ten-year average, and estimating the increase in acreage at 3 per cent.

Rumors that later returns in the National Ginners' association indicated a better outlook than suggested by the preliminary figures of last Friday, probably encouraged the selling movement also, but the market met considerable support on the decline. Houses with foreign connections were buyers of new crop deliveries, while there was continued covering, and after selling at 11.07 for October, the market rallied some 3 or 4 points. Another flurry of liquidation or bear pressure caused a mid-afternoon reaction to about the low point, but the buying was active enough to give the market a steady tone at the close, which was two points or two up from the lowest.

There was no particular change in the news from trade circles, and the main factors in the decline was said to be the better weather and a feeling that short interests had been reduced.

Cotton spot closed quiet; middling uplands, 12.00; do. gulf, 12.25. Sales, 400 bales.

WHEAT PRICES RALLY ON SCARCITY OF RAIN

Market Closed Nervous at Saturday Night's Level to One-Quarter Cent Up.

Chicago, May 26.—Wheat rallied today when it was shown that rains in the dry districts were light. The market closed nervous at prices ranging from Saturday night's level to 1-4 up. Corn made a net gain of 3-8@3-4c, 1 1-4@1 oats finished unchanged to 1 1-8 higher, and provision dearer by 5@7 1-2 to 5c.

Signs were numerous that powerful interests took much wheat during an early decline caused by widespread rain. Inquiry developed that the downpour had not been heavy in places where most needed, especially southwestern Kansas. There were also dry weather complaints from North Dakota, and reports of Hessian fly in southeast Missouri. Bullish estimates of the Kansas wheat crop led to increased buying as the session drew to a close. Secretary Smiley, of the Grain Dealers' association in that state, put the probable yield as low as 87,000,000 bushels. Export clearances of wheat and flour were large, being equal to 1,044,000 bushels. Primary receipts of wheat amounted to 627,000 bushels, a year ago, 588,000 bushels.

Wet weather delay to planting induced lively purchasing of corn and tightened the screws on May shorts. Messages from South Dakota spoke of possible abandonment of further seeding. Storm interference with May delivery of oats more than offset crop talk of dry fields.

Provisions went higher all around, chiefly owing to hog supplies being lighter than expected. Packers assisted the upturn.

Remarks.

In the past 48 hours fair weather has prevailed over the belt. Temperatures are slightly higher in all sections.

a-Minimum temperatures are for 12-hour period ending at 8 a. m. this date. b-Received late, not included in averages. x-Highest yesterday. xx-Lowest for 24 hours ending 8 a. m. 75th meridian time.

NOTE—The average highest and lowest temperatures are made up at each center from the actual number of reports received, and the average precipitation from the number of stations reporting 0.10 inch or more. The "state of weather" is that prevailing at time of observation.

New York, May 26.—(Special)—Fine weather in the south over Sunday and favorable crop reports were the cause of lower prices here today. Selling started at the opening and continued during the entire morning interests that heavily bought last week liquidated freely and while the demand was in good volume at each point down, no particular support appeared at any one time. The buying of last week reduced the short interest considerably, which decreases the buying power for the present.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, May 26.—Heavy American selling orders in Liverpool, based on a favorable weather map over Sunday, and the anticipation of a favorable weekly report tomorrow, brought about a decline here of some 10 to 12 points. It is evident the bearish feeling has greatly increased as a result of the action of the market. There is decidedly more business in the cotton goods market during the past few days. Stocks of cotton goods have been allowed to fall to small proportions at a time when labor is well employed. European circulars comment in great length upon the pessimism in America and the predictions of a large crop of cotton. From the detailed temperatures it would seem as though the nights were colder than desired.

Dry Goods.

New York, May 26.—The cotton goods markets are steady with business broadening on convertibles and cloths for the manufacturing trades. Tissue goods of moderate & falling fall. Cotton yarns are easier.

STOCKS WERE HEAVY MOST OF THE SESSION

Virginia-Carolina Chemical, However, Advanced Seven Points.

New York, May 26.—Disappointment was the portion today of that element on the stock exchange which had looked for a resumption of last Saturday's strong and active market. Opening prices reflected a degree of irregularity, which soon turned to heaviness.

Various conditions and developments were offered in explanation of the day's movement. Chief among these was the absence of any definite news in connection with the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific dissolution proceedings, although the chief executive of the first named system was in conference during the day with the attorney general at Washington. Another deterrent factor was found in the protracted open session of the United States supreme court, whose deliberations continued long after the market closed.

There was some disposition also to pay more than passing heed to a speech delivered last Saturday before a group of bankers in the middle west by a representative of an influential local banking institution, in which a distinct note of caution was sounded. Finally to-day brought a number of railroad earnings, few of which were favorable.

As a partial offset to these adverse features, the constructive side found some comfort in an increase of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit dividend from a 6 to 7 per cent annual basis. The trading relapsed to minor proportions, with recurrent heaviness in the leaders and a abrupt 7 point advance in Virginia-Carolina preferred.

London's operations here were negligible, purchases of Union Pacific and other rallers being nullified by sales of Canadian Pacific and Industrials.

Bonds were steady.

London Stock Market.

London, May 26.—The stock market was quiet because of the settlements beginning, but the tone was better on account of the recovery in Americans. American securities opened steady. Prices soon irregularly. Later the market received fair support and advanced. In the late trading Canadian Pacific fell 2 points and the rest of the list dropped. Closed dull.

BRENAU COLLEGE CLOSES THIS WEEK

Commencement Exercises of Popular Gainesville School Began Last Friday.

Gainesville, Ga., May 26.—(Special.)—Brenau college closes this week for the summer after a year of unprecedented success. The commencement exercises, which began last Friday, have been unusually interesting, the presence of the Brenau colony of Atlanta and the reunion of the class of 1903 contributing a new element to the exercises.

Fourteen young Atlanta matrons and girls, graduates of the college and members of the Brenau club of Atlanta, were honor guests at the alumnae banquet. They were toasted by the girls, and Miss Sadie Andrews, of Atlanta, responded beautifully to the welcome.

Miss Ruth Baker, one of the class of 1903, was toastmistress, and she fulfilled her duties wittingly.

The long tables were brilliant with great masses of crimson roses, and on the white damask fragrent petals of roses and carnations were strewn.

The Brenau colony of Atlanta and a special table, and those who gave the toasts and responses were seated at the honor table near the large windows.

Toasts were given to the presidents of the college, the class of 1903, to the future class of 1923, to the Brenau colony of Atlanta, to the sons-in-law of Brenau and to the alma mater.

After the dinner the guests were entertained as an enjoyable concert in the auditorium. Monday afternoon the class day exercises were held, and Tuesday morning Chancellor David C. Barrow, of the University of Georgia, will deliver the address to the graduating class.

Bishop Warren A. Candler preached the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday morning, delivering a strong plea for faith in old religion of pats generations.

Monday at 1 o'clock the class of 1903, which is holding its decennial reunion, was complimented with a beautiful luncheon.

Commencement will close Tuesday evening.

Monroe Commencement.

Monroe, Ga., May 26.—(Special.)—The commencement [illegible] Monroe public schools closed with the commencement sermon by Rev. S. J. Niles, of Savannah, at the First Methodist church Sunday morning.

Thursday evening of last week there was a recital by the intermediate pupils of the music department and Friday night the advanced pupils of the music department gave a recital. There were no graduating exercises, owing to the fact that there were but two members of the class.

DRINKING HABITS OF COL. ROOSEVELT

each other which seemed to be of a jocular and pleasing nature, the former president smiling and Sherwood choking off a laugh with difficulty.

During the day Judge Richard C. Flannigan, who presided, received a telegram from Minneapolis, as follows:

"Don't let this sensational trial continue until I have arrived."

It was signed "Jacob Miles." Judge Flannigan turned the message over to Frank Tyree, who was one of Colonel Roosevelt's guards while president, and who is here as a witness. Tyree notified the chief of police of Minneapolis, who wired back that Miles was insane and had been arrested.

James H. Pound, of Detroit, questioned the veniremen for the plaintiff. His associate attorneys are William H. Van Benschoten, of New York, and W. S. Hill, of Marquette. The Detroit lawyer made it a point to ask possible jurors as to their acquaintance with the principals in the defendant's legal camp and about their acquaintance with H. O. Young.

Did Young Inspire Article?

Mr. Young was elected to congress from the Marquette district as a republican, but the progressive candidate, Mr. Stanaway, put up a claim in the house that he had a moral right to the election, as a large number of persons who wished to vote for him had innocently used his erroneous ballots. Before a decision was reached at Washington, Young resigned.

Counsel for the plaintiff are interested in the reports that remarks made by Young really inspired Newett to write the alleged libelous article.

Opposing counsel worded the same inquiry differently when asking if a venireman would be prejudiced against either party to the suit.

"Would the fact that the defendant is a neighbor and citizen of this community while the plaintiff is a resident of a distant state prejudice you against the plaintiff" was the way in effect that Mr. Pound put it. Mr. Pelham would ask:

"Would the fact that one party to this suit is a former president of the United States, while the other is a mere citizen cause you to give more weight to the statements of one side than to those of the other?"

In all, five veniremen were dismissed for cause, two of these because they failed to comprehend simple questions asked them. One of them said he could render a fair decision "regardless of the evidence," whereat a titter went around the room, but subsided before the court could utter the warning that hung upon his lips.

One Venireman Stricken Dumb.

The other seemed stricken dumb, an apparent victim to stage fright. He was a large, blonde man, with a drooping mustache and hair roached high. His lips moved sometimes, but the words would not come. To give him time to recover, Judge Flannigan deferred the examination, but after an hour he was still unable to articulate, and was excused. He left the building and went to his boarding house, and after the court took a recess crowds passing it on their way home observed him through a window talking with great animation to a friend.

Attorney Pound thought that the opposing lawyers had some advantage in having a table nearer the jury box and receiving permission from the court, moved to a more favorable position, facing the box.

Twelve men were seated in the box for examination as prospective jurors.

Attorney Pound then explained to the men the purpose of the suit.

"This suit," said Mr. Pound, "is brought by Theodore Roosevelt, of New York, against the defendant, Newett, charging libel. I think that is all I need to say at present and I will proceed to question you?"

Not a Judge.

Joseph Robear, 25 years old a teamster, said he lived in Ishpeming. He said the fact that the alleged libel took place in Negaunee would not influence him in forming an opinion.

"Do you look on the publications of such a statement as a joke?"

"I would not consider it a joke."

Examined by William P. Belding, counsel for Newett, Robear was asked would the fact that the plaintiff had been a president of the United States affect you any different from what you feel if he were a plain citizen like Mr. Newett?"

"No."

Hugo Erickson, of Ishpeming, said he did not know the defendant.

"Would it make any difference to you that one party to the suit was a resident of the state of New York and the other a neighbor?" asked Attorney Pound.

"No," responded the witness.

"If a newspaper declared that someone is guilty of murder or burglary, would you regard it as a joke, or a serious matter?"

Erickson thought it was serious.

"Have you any prejudice as to the right of a newspaper to comment on the actions of a public character?"

"No."

"If we should prove that what the defendant wrote against the plaintiff was true, would you have prejudice against the defendant?"

Belden had great difficulty in making the venireman understand. The latter stood nervous and silent in the jury box while Belden hammered verbally to convey his meaning. Being unable to get an answer, at Judge Flannigan's suggestion, Erickson was passed over temporarily.

Repairs Defendant's Auto.

Charles T. Rutledge, of Ishpeming, son of a minister, said he was an automobile repair man.

"Are you a subscriber of Mr. Newett's paper?" asked Mr. Pound.

"My father is. I know Mr. Newett and repair his automobile."

"Your friendship with the defendant would not bias you in the trial of this case?"

"No. I think I could try it fairly."

"What do you think about the law of libel? It is a joke or a serious matter?"

"I think it is serious."

"If a man publishes something untruthful about another you think he should be punished?"

"Yes I do."

Rutledge was excused by the plaintiff's counsel for cause.

Colonel Roosevelt, sitting about 20 feet from the jury box, listened attentively to the examination of the veniremen.

Frequently he leaned over to talk to James R. Garfield, who sat beside him, or looking about the courtroom nodding to people he recognized.

William J. Irving, a miner of Republic, near here, is employed by the Cambria Iron company. He does not read "Iron Ore," the paper in which the alleged libelous editorial appeared.

"Have you any opinions which would prevent you from giving a fair trial?" asked Pound.

"I've made up my mind; yes, sir."

"Challenged for cause," said Pound.

"Excused," said the court, and the miner departed.

Libel a Serious Offense.

William Pryor thought that he could be fair, and that libel is a serious offense. Pryor said he had no prejudices against the publication by newspapers of criticisms of candidates for office.

"Or against the characteristics, habits and conduct of candidates?"

"No prejudice against such criticism," said Pryor.

Thomas Howard, a farmer, said he was not prejudiced against either of the litigants. He would award adequate damages if it was proved that a man was damaged by libel.

William Stanaway, clerk, a native of Cornwall, England, was excused.

"It has been charged that the plaintiff was an habitual drunkard and the defense is that the charge was justified. Would you be able to give the suit a fair hearing?"

Counsel for the defense objected to the question as being an incorrect statement, but Stanaway said he would give a fair hearing. He added he had no preconceived notions as to the merits of the case. W. H. Mathews, a native of Finland, who described himself as a "bottler of soft drinks," said he knew Mr. Newett; that "often they met but did not speak."

He thought he could try the case with fairness. As was the case with other veniremen, Attorney Pound asked if he was acquainted with former Congressman Young. Witness said he knew him slightly.

C. B. Driscoll, superintendent of construction for a mining company at Negaunee, and postmaster there in 1893-97, had known the defendant for thirty years and worked with Newett in political campaigns.

"You, of course, know H. O. Young?" asked Mr. Pound.

"Yes."

Mr. Young, a republican, was, till his recent resignation, a member of congress from the Marquette district. The validity of his election was questioned in the house by the progressives, and he resigned. Driscoll was dismissed on challenge by Pound, largely because he admitted discussing the alleged libelous editorial.

Got Hid of His Opinion

John Veale, a slight workman, who was born in Ireland, said he had heard of the suit brought by Colonel Roosevelt, and he had expressed an opinion as to the truth of the alleged libel.

"You have that opinion yet, haven't you?" asked Colonel Roosevelt's attorney.

"No, I haven't it now."

"When did you lose it?"

"Well, I may have expressed an opinion and did not believe in it."

"You read that article about Colonel Roosevelt?"

"Yes, I did."

"Did you form an opinion then?"

"Yes, I did"

Veale was excused for cause.

John L. Keeton, a clerk, had expressed an opinion, he said, but was not sure what it was. He was excused for cause.

W. A. Wasmuth, a beer salesman, came next.

"You have taken sides about this question, haven't you?" asked Attorney Pound.

"No," replied the witness.

"You have no opinion one way or the other?"

"No."

"Why, wasn't everybody talking of it last October?"

"Maybe in Marquette, but not in my town, Negaunee."

"Do you know Mr. Young?"

"Slightly."

Wasmuth also knew the defendant and Mr. Belden, attorney for Newett, casually. He declared that he was unbiased, having given the case little thought.

"Do you want to sit on this jury?"

"It is a matter of indifference to me," replied the witness.

Said He Was an Elk.

He said he was an Elk, belonging to the Negaunee lodge, but did not know whether Newett was a member of the Ishpeming Elk lodge, 3 miles away. Wasmuth thought he could be fair, even though the plaintiff had been president of the United States.

Robert Bruce, employee of a lumber company, said he heard about the charges against Colonel Roosevelt as published, but he never read the editorial on which the alleged libel is based. He said he knew of no reason why he could not try the case fairly.

"What do you think as to whether a charge of drunkenness against a man is serious?"

"I think it is a serious charge."

Bruce said he would give no greater weight to the testimony of Colonel Roosevelt than he would to that of Mr. Newett.

Michael Hennisey, a farmer, said he never heard any one express an opinion as to the falsity or truth of the editorial published about Colonel Roosevelt. He said he considered such charges serious if they were untrue."

"And, of course, if they were true, the court would tell you there was no libel," added Attorney Belden.

Judge Expects Long Trial.

Early in the night session Judge Flannigan addressed the veniremen, saying:

"From the time the jury is formed, to the return of the verdict, the jury will be in close confinement under guard of the sheriff. Before counsel exercise any of their peremptory challenges, I wish to ask, are there any among you who are sick, or whose presence at home the next week or two is absolutely necessary?"

To this there were no replies.

Samuel Grenfall, a miner, coming originally from New Zealand, was excused on peremptory challenge from Mr. Pound. J. A. Wassmuth, a beer salesman, went the same way. The defense excused George Williamson, a Negaunee miner.

Before being dismissed, because he said his detention on the jury perhaps for two weeks would seriously interfere with his business, Frank Larson, a saloonkeeper, was asked by Colonel Roosevelt's attorney, "Would the fact that you are in the liquor business influence you in arriving at a verdict in this case?"

"No, sir; I think not."

"You heard it discussed about your place, didn't you, that The Iron Ore accused Colonel Roosevelt of being a drunkard?"

"It may have been discussed there, but I formed no opinion as to the merits of it."

"Would your being kept on the jury for several weeks and locked up seriously injure your business?"

"Yes; I think it would injure it. One week wouldn't, but two weeks would."

Judge Flannigan ruled: "I think under the circumstances we will excuse him."

Bull Moose Barred.

Wearing a big blue badge on which was an emblem representing a bull moose, August Brody, a miner and native of Sweden, stood up in the jury box to be examined. He said although he had heard of the publication of the article charging "that Colonel Roosevelt was in the habit of getting drunk," he had formed no opinion about it. He was excused peremptorily by the defense.

Despite the lateness of the hour to which the work of selecting a jury extended, the quaint, courtroom, bright with a myriad of electric lights, and shining mahogany furnishings, was still filled with spectators. Women still indented on the balcony and all the seats outside of the railings were occupied. Colonel Roosevelt remained in attendance, giving close attention to questions asked the veniremen.

New Homes Are Being Opened Every Day Everywhere

There's a hint in that, Mr. Storekeeper.

Do you catch it?

THE CONSTITUTION advertisers know what that means.

It means that people will want rugs, china, draperies, crockery, silverware, furniture, bedding, kitchen utensils and dozens of other things.

It is customary for some stores in the larger cities to set apart one day each week on which to advertise only things for household service. All other lines are eliminated on this one day.

It is Housekeeper's Day.

Very good policy for smaller storekeepers in every part of the United States to follow.

The stores that do so, work up a good and lasting trade, for very good thrifty housekeepers get in the habit of watching for such advertisements and reading them closely.

PROSECUTION RESTS IN THE GIBSON CASE

Newburgh, N. Y., May 26.—The prosecution rested late today its case against Burton W. Gibson, a New York lawyer, who is on trial here charged with murdering Mrs. Rosa Menshik Szabo, his client, by strangling her in the waters of Greenwood lake last July. Witnesses who testified to show Gibson's alleged motive, and physicians who swore Mrs. Szabo was choked to death and not drowned, were called to the stand by the people today. Bank tellers told of Gibson withdrawing sums of money deposited in his client's name. A surrogate's clerk from New York testified how Gibson qualified as Mrs. Szabo's executor after probation of her will.

Tonight the defense opened its case. Harry Kohl, of counsel for Gibson, told the jury he would show that Mrs. Szabo's death was accidental.

HIS JUMP GAVE RIGHT TO RECOVER DAMAGES

Washington, May 26.—Martin Pederson was carrying bolts across a Delaware, Lackawanna and Western bridge at West End, N. J., to repair it. He jumped out of the way of an intrastate train and was struck by one of an interstate track. The supreme court today held that Pederson was engaged in interstate commerce and might recover under the federal employers' liability law. Justice Lamar dissented.

Superseded by U. S. Law.

Washington, May 26.—The Oklahoma employers' liability law, so far as it applies to interstate commerce, was superseded by the federal employers liability law of 1908, according to a decision of the supreme court today in the case of E. L. Hesterly against the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern Railway company.

LEGAL ACTION ASKED AGAINST COTTON BULLS

Washington, May 26.—Demand for legal action against those who sold cotton to James A. Patten and others, of the cotton "pool" indicted in 1910 for running a corner, was made in the senate today by Senator Smith, of South Carolina, who said he had been assured that the department of commerce, if the senate would pass a proper resolution, would thoroughly investigate the selling end of the famous pool.

"If the department of commerce does its duty thoroughly," he declared, "we will indict the men who made those contracts of sale in the effort to keep the price of cotton down."

Attorney General Wickersham brought no action against the sellers, but indicted the buyers.

A resolution instructing the secretary of commerce to investigate was carried over to the next session of the senate at the request of Senator Clark, of Wyoming.
